May Set Up 18-Man Board

Action Possible On Stabilization Set-Up During This Week

By Max Hall

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP)—President Truman may soon create a new 18-man Wage Stabilization Board on which labor and management probably would agree to serve despite their inability to agree on its powers.

Government officials today were leaning toward that solution of the nation's wage control troubles. A good many labor and industry leaders are expecting such a solution. Action is possible—though far from certain—next week.

It should be a lively week in the field of economic controls.

Labor leaders, an estimated 700 of them, are heading for Washington for rallies Tuesday and Wednesday at which they will demonstrate against high prices and attack the "inadequacy" of price controls.

Government price controllers haggled meantime over what percentage of mark-up" to allow in food stores. The office of Price Stabilization (OPS) now expects to issue two retail oredrs and one wholesale food order within the next week.

Roll Back Inpends

OPS Director Michael V. DiSalle has said that the new "mark-ups"—showing food sellers how much they can add to what they pay in determining what they charge—will roll back most food prices and roll forward only a few.

(However, on most foods, a rolled back price would be free to rise again later if the farmer's price went up.)

Orders for Check

Today Edward P. Morgan, OPS enforcement director, ordered is field investigating staff to start an "immeriate nationwide check" to make sure that manufacturers and wholesalers are keeping the records required by price control regulations. Morgan told his staff members that "evidence already received indicates there is wide spread non-compliance" with the record keeping requirements.

Concerning the new Wage Stabilization Board, it is reported that the board's powers to settle disputes would be along the lines proposed by Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston.

Johnston drafted a compromise which would give the board power to handle only disputes over wages, over interpretation of the goard's own regulations, disputes which both parties agreed that the board should settle, and disputes certified to the board by the President as important to the defense effort.

Industry groups have flatly turned down the compromise but said they would not bokcott such a board if it were created.

The United Labor policy committee, composed of union leaders, has not formally acted on the compromise. Some labor leaders say privately the committee may not officially accept the compromise but that labor members, like industry members, would serve on the board anyway.

In any case, nothing is likely to be done about the board until the union rallies Tuesday and Wednesday have been completed.

Labor leaders have walked out of the present Wage Stabilization Board, thus crippling it as a policy making body, and they also withdrew from other government agencies in protest against several aspects of the mobilization program.

T. H. Underwood Is Kentucky Senator

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 17—(AP)—Thomas Rust Underwood was appointed to the United States Senate today by Governor Lawrence Wetherby.

Underwood, 53, Democratic Congressman from the Sixth district and editor of the Lexington, Ky., Herald, will replace Virgil M. Chapman, Paris, Ky., who died of injuries received in an automobile accident in Washington March 8.

Wetherby handed the appointment order to Thomas R. Underwood, Jr., who will deliver to his father in Washington. Underwood will be sworn in as a Senator Monday.

Underwood announced in Washington his acceptance of the appointment and his resignation from the House, effective today.

In a message to Gov. Wetherby he said the responsibility of serving in the Senate "will weigh very heavily upon me because the decisions that are to be made are so grave."

A native of Hopinsville, Ky., Underwood served as secretary of the Democratic station general committee from 1940 to 1944. In 1947, he successfully managed Earle C. Clements' campaign for governor. Clements is now the senior Senator from Kentucky.

Underwood was elected to Congress from the Sixth District in 1948 and 1950.

His elevation to the Senate creates a Congressional vacancy in the Sixth District. The governor will call a special election soon to fill it. The District is normally Democratic but Republicans are expected to battle for the seat.

Still Try To Avert Bus Strike

ST. LOUIS, March 17—(AP)—A new attempt to settle a wage dispute between the Missouri Pacific Bus Company and its 300 drivers will be made Monday

Representatives of both sides will meet federal conciliators at 10:30 a. m. (CST). A simialr meeting last week ended with a report of "no progress."

A strike by the drivers is set for 3 a. m., Tuesday.

The company as offered a 6-cent-an-hour incerase to the drivers, The union, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, is seeking 18 cents. The men now get $1.20 an hour.

F. A. Purcell, deputy president of the union, said the drivers had been asked by the company to turn in their equipment before the strike deadline.

Merchants Are Busy On Charts

Compliance Being Prepared For Office of O. P. S.

The merchants of Sedalia are particularly busy right now preparing the list dates of purchasing charts to comply with the Office of Price Stabilization, Ceiling Price Regulation No. 7, as these charts must be completed and filed with office of the O.P.S. on or before March 29, 1951.

Articles included in the Ceiling Price Regulation No. 7, cover such merchandise as: Clothing for men, women and children, including house dresses, work clothing, men's furnishings, all women's, children small ready-to-wear items and accessories; shoes, including rubber footwear; all household textiles including sheets, blankets and yard goods; all furniture, rugs and lamps.

The local Volunteer Emergency Stabilization Co-operative committee has requested the Regional Office of O.P.S. to send a representative to Sedalia to interpret the program of price stabilization and have received word that a speaker may be expected here in the near future.

Copies of the Ceiling Price Regulation No. 7, and amendments thereto, are available at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Letter From Director

The following letter was received by Damon Hieronymus from H. Roe Bartle, regional director:

"My Dear Mr. Hieronymus:

"Thank you for your communication of March 8, 1951. They have really had us loaded at this end of the line and there seems to be no rest from the on-slaught. We do not have an adequate staff as yet to fulfill our responsibility as we desire. It is keen, however, to have a fine committee in Sedalia and Pettis county which has been appointed by the honorable mayor of your fair city who is willing to cooperate genuinely and wholeheartedly in this vital economic program.

"Because of the spirit demonstrated I am asking Mr. A. R. Maulsby, who is a speaker extraordinary and one of the top-flight platform men of the midwest, to arrange his schedule so as to be with you at a mutually agreed upon date. Mr. Maulsby will be calling you over long distance to arrange the program that you have in mind. Mr. Maulsby can and will interpret effectively and well any program of this agency.

"With all good wishes, I am,

"Faithfully yours,

"H. Roe Bartle,

"Acting Regional Director."

GOP Selects Party Ticket For Election

Group Stresses Need Of Placing Men On Council

REPUBLICAN TICKET

For City Council

First Ward
H. O. Berry

Second Ward
Nathan L. Brown

Third Ward
T. J. McMillin

Fourth Ward
Clyde Swafford

Member of Schol Board
Dr. G. H. Abney

The City Republican convention was held Saturday night in the Circuit court room of the county court house with a large crowd in attendance. Co-operation, party strength and the need of Mayor Herb Studer for GOP help in the City Council were stressed throughout.

The nomination of a member to the school board drew the only discussion as to whom would be the nominee. Dr. G. H. Abney was nominated to succeed himself as member after a vote of the four wards proved to favor him.

George Miller, city chairman, presided over the meeting and opened it with a prayer. The different precincts then caucused into their wards and chose their candidate for alderman.

Miller then called the meeting back-to-order and asked the approval of the candidates for the office of councilmen.

Berry Named For First Ward

L. L. Studer, chairman of the First Ward delegation, offered the name of H. O. Berry, who is at the present the Civil Defense director for Pettis county. This job receives no compensation. It was unanimously approved. Mr. Berry made a short acceptance speech, vowing to work hard for the office of First Ward alderman.

Glenn Kell, chairman of the Second Ward delegation, nominated N. L. Brown, operator of Browny's Cafe at 50 and 65 highway as candidate for Second Ward alderman. This was approved and Mr. Brown made a short but consise talk on why he was a Republican.

The Third Ward then offered the name of T. J. McMillin, a machinist at the Missouri Pacific shops, as their candidate for alderman. Mr. McMillin was a candidate a few years ago and was defeated. He was nominated by Carl Urban and after being nominated made an accptance speech.

Miss Palmer Introduces Swafford

Miss Hazel Palmer, chairman of the Fourth Ward delegation, introduced Clyde Swafford as the Fourth Ward's Republican candidate for councilman. Mr. Swafford was given a high recommendation by several members of the different delegation and was approved without a disenting voice. He also made an acceptance speech in which he stated that he was reluctant to accept the nomination but the Republican delegations proved that they had whole-hearted confidence in him and that he would make an honest effort to be elected.

The name of Dr. G. H. Abney was approved by the body of delegates to be the Republican candidate for a school board posi-

Officer From Sedalia Given Command

Lt. Pharris, Jr., Is At Loran Station On Wake Island

(Special to Sedalia Democrat and Capital)

HONOLULU, T. H., March 17, 1951—Lieutenant Lilburn A. Pharris, Jr., son of Lilbourn and Wilma Pharris of 1005 South Missouri avenue, Sedalia, Missouri, passed through Honolulu recently enroute to the Coast Guard Loran Station at Wake Island to become that station's commanding officer.

The Loran system is a modern electronic aid to navigation by means of which navigators on or over the ocean can determine their positions accurately and quickly, day or night, and under practically any condition of weather or sea. The name "Loran" is derived from the words "LOng RAnge Aid to Navigation."

At fifteen strategic points throughout the Pacific, between Honolulu and Japan, these stations operate 24 hours a day helping to keep surface vessels and aircraft navigating safely.

Lt. Pharris graduated from the Coast Guard Academy at New London, Connecticut, in 1945 and was commissioned an ensign.

He served for 34 months aboard the famed cutter Bibb on North Atlantic weather patrol and then served one year as executive officer of the (buoy tender) CGC Cactus. He then spent two years as Chief of the Search and Rescue Section of the Second Coast Guard District at St. Louis, Mo.

Prior to his assignment to Loran duty, Lt. Pharris completed five weeks of Loran training at the Coast Guard Training Station at Groton, Connecticut.

Lt. Pharris while a resident of Sedalia had two years in Smith-Cotton High school and also attended Maplewood Junior High school at Maplewood, Mo., finishing his studies at Natic, Mass.

On February 5, this year, Mrs. Pharris gave birth to a son, Thomas Chilton Pharris, and she with the boy are now in Cleveland, Ohio. Lt. Pharris has not had an opportunity of seeing the child owing to his change in the Coast Guard service.

Eide, Knife And Fork Speaker

Not since the days of Jack London has a more colorful figure come out of Alaska than the next speaker who is scheduled to address the Sedalia Knife and Fork club. Mr. Harold Eide, gold-miner, trader, trapper and rough-and-ready soldier of fortune, who will be here Monday night might well have stepped from the pages of the North's greatest master of fiction. But there is nothing fictitious about the career of this intrepid Northlander who has spent over a quarter of a century in the Arctic and who is still going strong.

The club dinner meeting will be held in Bothwell Hotel Ambassador room at 6:30.

Licensed To Wed

A marriage license was issued to Robert Randall Anderson and Marian Louise Ginn, both of Knob Noster by the county recorder, Malachi O'Brien, Saturday.

Paid For Wolf Scalp

Saturday, the county court authorized the payment of ten dollars to Herschel Walk of Houstonia for one old wolf scalp.

City To Open Building Bids On New Airport

The Civil Aeronautics Administration has given its approval to advertise for bids on the construction of the Sedalia Memorial Airport which is to be located adjoining the eastern city limits on highway 50. This information was received, Saturday, by Emery L. Ellsworth, chairman of the public buildings and grounds committee of the City Council.

Invitation for bids will be advertised starting Monday, and will be advertised Monday March 26, and April 2, and the bids will be opened on April 16 at the regular meeting of the City Council.

Approval of the minimum wage rates has been given by the Secretary of Labor, Maurice Tobin.

The property where the airport is to be located has already been obtained by the City of Sedalia and the city has been waiting this final word for the "go ahead" signal to ask for bids and to get the work project underway.

Still Search For Lt. Stevens

Letter Tells Of His Being On A Night Flight

Mrs. Maxine H. Stevens, 911 South Prospect avenue, who was notified by the War Department Wednesday night that her husband, Second Lieutenant Herbert Stevens, was missing in flight in Japan, has received the following letter from John H. McCormick, Brigadier General, USAF;

"Mrs. Maxine H. Stevens,
911 South Prospect
Sedalia, Missouri

"Dear Mrs. Stevens:

"I sincerely regret that in writing this letter I must confirm the recent message announcing the sad news that your husband, Second Lieutenant Herbert Stevens, has been missing in flight since 13 March, 1951, in Japan.

"Our report states that Lieutenant Stevens was the pilot of a military aircraft which became missing while on a night proficiency flight.

"The Department of the Air Force will continue to hold your husband in a missing status until the results of the intensive search that is now in progress are known. You will be advised immediately of any new information received.

"Within a short time you will be contacted by an Air Force chaplain or a representative of the American Red Cross who is prepared to assist you in any way possible. Permit me to extend to you my heartfelt sympathy during this period of uncertainty.

"Sincerely yours,

"Signed John H. McCormick."

Review Civil Defense Appeal

The Pettis County Civil Defense program is still lacking volunteers to carry out its various activities, it was announced Saturday by Major Harry O. Berry, retired, who is appealing to Sedalians to register for some activity.

Registration can be made at the Civil Defense office in the court house on the second floor. The Marine recruiting officers are assisting by registering for Major Berry those people who call. A telephone has also been installed in the office. The number is 1666, and those who care to call and register can do so.

If no answer is received on the first phone call, those desiring to do so can call Major Berry's home at 4358 and his or her name will be placed on the roll.

The past week Major Berry in company with Sheriff John Taylor attended an area meeting at Warrensburg, Mo., at which Sheriff's from this area were in attendance. Discussion of their part of the program was conducted.

Rotary to Hear Dr. Collins On Monday

The Rotary club will meet Monday noon at the Bothwell hotel for a business meeting and will adjourn at 12:30 to go in a body to the First Methodist church where they will hear Dr. M. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley college.

Navy Enlisted Man Arrests General--Thinks He's A Red

HONOLULU, March 17—(AP)—A Navy enlisted man slapped and "arrested" an Air Force major general early today, and wound up in military custody himself.

The general, however, said he did not intend to press any charges against the sailor.

Lt. Philip Chong of the Honolulu civilian police gave this account:

Edward C. Burt, 26, of Hibbing, Minn., storekeeper third class, of the Navy tug Lipan, brought a distinguished-looking but disheveled man to the police station in a taxicab and demanded that he be held as a Communist."

Both In Civies

Both were in civilian clothes, but the older man calmly identified himself as Maj. Gen. David M. Schlatter, commanding general of the U. S. Air Force Research and Development section and former commander of the U. S. Air Force in Europe.

But, who was sober, was turned over to military police. He said he had encountered the general talking to some sailors on a street in Waikiki.

"He asked me if I was happy with my job and why didn't I join his outfit," said Burt. "He was saying the same thing to the others. He didn't say what his outfit was and wouldn't identify himself.

"I figured he was a Communist, so I slapped him a few times, threw him into a cab and brought him to the station."

"I don't know what to say about it," General Schlatter told reporters. "He (the sailor) just walked up to me and started slapping me on one side and the other."

The general said he was en route home from a trip to Korea.

UN Troops Grind-On Despite Red Efforts To Stiffen Defenses

Democratic Meet Ends In Harmony

Dr. Lively Named As Party Choice On School Board

DEMOCRATIC TICKET

For City Council
First Ward
Pete Menefee

Second Ward
John B. O'Brien

Third Ward
Emery L. Ellsworth

Fourth Ward
Maurice F. Hogan

Member of School Board
Dr. Floyd L. Lively

Harmony prevailed at the Sedalia Democratic convention held in the Assembly Room of the courthouse, Saturday night. A looming fight over the candidacy for member of the School Board diminished when Robert M. Overstreet, present member of the the board, took the floor and withdrew his name from the race and moved that Dr. Floyd L. Lively, be elected by acclamation.

P. Emmet Sullivan, city chairman, presiding over the meeting called for the ward nominations for City Council for ratification as the first order of business.

S. J. Timborious, chairman of the First Ward delegation, presented the name of Pete Menefee, present councilman, for ratification. Mr. Menefee who seeks re-election gave a short talk.

John B. O'Brien Presented

The name of John B. O'Brien, was presented the convention by Dewey Guinn, chairman of the Second Ward delegation. Following the ratification he likewise gave a brief talk.

Emery L. Ellsworth, Third Ward candidate, up for re-election was presented the convention by G. O. Hawley, chairman of that ward delegation.

Mr. Ellsworth also gave a brief talk.

L. C. "Roy" Bryson, chairman of the Fourth Ward delegation, presented the name of Maurice F. Hogan for ratification. Mr. Hogan followed the other three candidates and gave a most inspiring talk as to the method in getting candidates elected.

At this point Chairman Sullivan called for nominations for Member of the School Board.

Brown Nominates Overstreet

William F. Brown took the floor and nominated Mr. Overstreet and he was followed by Mr. Timborious who presented the name of Dr. Lively as a candidate.

The Fourth Ward delegation retired to the lobby of the court-house and voted on the two candidates, the First Ward and Third Wards remained in the convention room and held their voting. The Second Ward was instructed as to their voting, their thirteen votes going to Dr. Lively.

As the convention reconvened, Mr. Overstreet asked for the floor and recognized by Chairman Sullivan. He began, "I have a two-part speech to make." Mr. Overstreet stressed the importance of voting for their candidates for the City Council and stressed in getting out the votes.

He then said, "Mr. Chairman, at this time I desire to withdraw my name as a candidate for the School Board and make a motion that Dr. Lively, my friend, be elected by acclamation." The convention passed on the motion, and Dr. Lively became the Democratic candidate.

Dr. Lively then took the floor and in a few words said, "I want to express my gratitude to my friends and want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Overstreet for his most friendly move. We are good friends."

Party Applauds Overstreet

Mr. Guinn then moved that the convention give to Mr. Overstreet a standing vote of appreciation and confidence, and before the motion could be called for a vote, the entire convention delegation was standing and applauding Mr. Overstreet

The three present Democratic hold-over Councilmen, Harry Moore of the First Ward; Elmer Summers, Second Ward; and Jim Reed of the Fourth Ward, gave a short talk, with Mr. Sumners giving a over-all picture of what the Democratic Administration had done for the City of Sedalia, in progress, construction and giving its citizens a financially sound city. He reviewed his 17 years as a member of the council calling attention to the fact that when he was first a city Councilman the budget called for $185,000—now is $559,000, "but our financial condition is sound, sounder than it has been in years" he said.

"I want to call attention also to the fact Sedalia streets are in good repair in comparison to what they were some years back and we are going to spend $20,000 more this year to do more improving. Mind you, this is without ad-

Red Cross To Fill In Quota

The Pettis County Red Cross campaign still has only 36 per cent of its quota and the fact that all reports yet turned in have exceeded their quotas raises the belief that the solicitors have not been on the job and made their calls. The drive will last until the quota is reached.

The teachers have exceeded their quota this year.

Prairie township, in which Mrs. Granville Thompson and Mrs. Raymond Neitzert were solicitors, have turned in their report which is over the quota set for them.

One hundred per cent firms include Yunker-Lierman, McLaughlins and Kresges.

N. R. Klein A Suicide

Apparent He Had Shot Self At Home Near Smithton

Norman Ray Klein, 26, was found dead at his home just north of Smithton, about 12:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon by his father-in-law and mother-in-law. The young man apparently had taken his own life according to an investigation conducted by Dr. C. Gordon Stauffacher, coroner, and Sgt. William S. Barton of the State Highway Patrol.

He was found lying in his bed with a single shot, 4.10 shotgun beneath the blanket and the muzzle lying on his chest. The charge entered the right side of his head just above the ear. He died instantly.

A note was found lying on a dresser which indicated family difficulties. However, members of the families of Klien gave information which revealed he was not in the best of health.

Klein was a veteran of World War II and served in the Pacific theatre of operations. While there he was wounded in the shoulder and also in the head. It was reported by a member of the faimly that he had a silver plate in his head as a result of the head wound.

The Kleins lived in a tenant house on the east Smithton Junction road which leads to Highway 50, on a farm of Henry Schotzhauer who had him employed as a farm hand. Mr. and Mrs. Klein had lived there for some time with their two small children.

Klein, last Tuesday night, according to his wife, became irritated when he came home and frightened his wife and children. Mrs. Klein and her two children left the home the next morning and went to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beck, about three miles east of the Klein home.

Thursday night Klein went to the home of his father-in-law and had dinner and left there about 10:30 o'clock to go to his home. That was the last time anyone had seen him alive.

Friday afternoon his brother-in-law, Charles Beck, went to the Klein home to get some clothing for his sister, but the doors were locked.

Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Beck were coming to Sedalia and dropped by the Klein residence to see if Norman was there. After trying the doors and found them locked, started to the Schotzhauer farm home, and not seeing him working near there, returned and shook the front door until a latch dropped, letting him in. He saw the body on the bed covered up and went over thinking he was asleep, but instead found the young man had shot himself. The Sedalia police were notified and they in turn notified Dr. Stauffacher and Sergeant Barton. They went to the home and conducted an investigation.

The body was taken to the Hayes and Painter funeral home in Otterville.

Dr. Stauffacher said an inquest was not necessary.

Norman Ray Klein was born on the Klein farm, July 21, 1925, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A Klein, north of Otterville.

Surviving him are his wife and two children, Dickie, three years old, and Norman Ray Klein, 16 months old. Also surviving are his parents, and the following brothers and sisters: Arthur Klein of Sedalia, Tommy Fritz Klein of near Green Ridge, Claude Klein of Hale, Mo., Mrs. Nellie Monsees, Bunceton, and Miss Maggie Klein of the family nome.

Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Censors Put A Black-Out On Movements

By Robert Eunson

TOKYO, Saturday, March 18—(AP)—The United Nations offensive hammered away against stiffer Communist resistance in Ceneral Korea Saturday, but movements were cloaked by heavy censorship.

The allied push carried within 15 miles of the 38th parallel and appeared aimed towards the Chinese base at Chunchon when U. S. security officers clamped down on field dispatches.

However, the drive was "going well," General MacArthur answered reporters on his return to Tokyo Saturday night from his sceond visit to the front in 10 days.

There was no immediate indication whether MacArthur's surprise trip to captured Hongchon on the Central front meant new offensive planning was under way, or was simply a routine inspection.

Accompanied by his top air, sea and ground commanders, MacArthur jeeped within 22 miles of the 38th parallel once the political dividing line between North and South Korea.

Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, whose Far East Air Forces had just completed their most restructive week of the war; Vice Ad. C. Turner Joy, whose U. N. armara blockades both east and west Korean coasts; and Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, directing the Eighth Army ground offensive, rode with their commander.

Not Reveal Strategy

MacArthur would not say on his return whether he planned to order his forces north of the parallel for a second time, or hold them in the thawing hills to the south while a negotiated settlement is sought.

A member of MacArthur's party said the Marines whom the supreme commander visited were preparing to blast the enemy from a hill as the party left. He said "the whole hill went up in flames from jellied gasoline just as we flew away."

The Eighth Army permitted correspondents in the field to report only a few lines Saturday night.

Correspondent William C. Barnard on the Central Front said American forces northwest of captured Hongchon hurled back a company-sized attack by Chinese Communists.

There was virtually no contact with the enemy on the east-central front, said correspondent Nate Polowetzky.

In the west, correspondent Jim Becker at Seoul was permitted to say that American and South Korean patrols probed vigorously north of the Han river.

Tighten Censorship

The new censorship regulation—including double scrutiny in the field and at Tokyo—forbade identifying allied units, their locations and commanding officers. Information obtained from prisoners of war or allied agents also will be banned in the future.

The purpose was to avoid disclosing anything of value to Communist intelligence.

Before the security clampdown, correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army Headquarters that four Chinese armies (Corps) were getting set along ridge-lines and high points southeast of Chunchon. That important Red base is eight miles south of parallel 38.

Four more Red Corps were in reserve to the north.

Normally the Chinese Corps, each composed of three divisions, number 30,000 to 40,000 men. This meant 120,000 to 160,000 Chinese were on the front for the defense of Chunchon and an equal number was in reserve to back them up.

It was possible, however, that the Reds would clear out completely from all positions south of the 38th parallel.

An American intelligence officer in Seoul was quoted in a field dispatch as saying:

"There are indications the enemy feels he cannot hold his line in view of our superiority in equipment. He may withdraw."

Choral Club To Sing At Church

The Missouri Pacific Choral Club will have the Easter program at the Cumberland Presbyterian church, Seventeenth street and Harrison avenue at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night. The title is "The Garden and the Cross" with the scripture story to be ready by E. W. Kettlesen followed by the music by the Missouri Pacific Choral Club.

Special music will be by Ernest Mulberry and the Missouri Pacific male quartet.

The sermon will be by the Rev. Earl Brummet.

How's Your Psychophysical Driving?

Gadgets Test Your Physical Ability to Drive a Car

By Richard Kleiner
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Pardon me while I blow my own horn. It turns out that I'm above average as a driver, psychophysically at least.

Being of a co-operative guinea pig nature, I voluntered to try a collection of fancy testing devices designed to see if you have the physical ability to make a good driver. The Greater New York Safety Council, putting on the shows, calls the test a psychophysical one. They tested my eyes, reaction time—everything but my clutch and transmission.

The first gadget was sort of a stereopticon with big ideas. You look through it and the operator puts some cards in front of you. On one, for example, there is a line of numbers, from one through 15. An arrow points to one of them.

"What number is the arrow pointing to?" asked the operator.

It was halfway between eight and nine, my eyes told me.

"OK, you're normal," said the operator. He explained that he was testing my "lateral balance," and that, if I had said anything but eight, nine or 10, I would have been doubtful or unsatisfactory. It was a big relief to know my "lateral balance" was OK.

* * *

Other cards tested my vertical balance, fusion, color perception and usable vision. I was normal on all. Which was pleasant, as it's only natural to be worried about one's fusion. Especially if you don't even know you've got one.

Next was the "depth perception" testing device. Two miniature cars on two tracks are attached to long cords. Standing 20 feet away, I had to pull the cords until the cars lined up—or at least looked lined up to me.

I pulled, and they seemed even. It turned out they were. Which meant, the man explained, that I could judge space, distance and the relative position of objects.

"That's how we test if a guy might cut in too soon after passing or follow too closely," he said. Then he leaned closer and whispered, "Don't let this get around, but unofficially we find women are worse than men on this. Now we know how they get all those banged-up fenders."

After sharing that great secret, he took me on to the next device, a thing which tests if you have limited straight-ahead "tunnel vision." You put this gadget, which looks like a mechanized ping-pong paddle, up to your face. You stare straight ahead at a white dot, while the operator moves two pointers at the sides.

* * *

As soon as you see either pointer, you raise your hand. It indicates, not that you want to leave the room, but that you can see moving objects to the side. I saw them within the required distance, meaning that I'm not going to be surprised by a truck coming out of a side street.

EYES FRONT is the command for reporter Richard Kleiner, as tester Dr. Irmagene Nevins Holloway measures his ability to see things at the side.

Another test measured my reaction speed. You put your right foot on the gadget accelerator, and as soon as a green light turns to red, you jam on the brakes. The device tells you how long it takes you to shift your foot. I did it four times, and my times ranged from three-tenths to one-half a second. That was fast enough.

It turns out that young people are generally quicker in reacting than older people. A boy of seven had set the record but, unfortunately, his father would'nt buy him a car.

All the test operators emphasized one thing: just because I was normal, I shouldn't get cocky. All that I'm normal at is certain physical things. I can still be a bad driver, if I take chances or drive under the influence of high-test alcohol or have a car with poor brakes or let my attention wander.

As far as any testing can show, however, I may yet grow up to be a taxi-driver.

Suicide, Prayer and a Want-Ad

Widow, 70, Finds a Miracle in Washington Slum Giving New Faith to Those Who Are Discouraged

By Evert Clark
NEA Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Mrs. Julia Shelhamer has made two evangelistic tours of the world, but she found her miracle in a Washington slum.

It began with a suicide, a prayer and a want-ad.

The tiny, 70-year-old widow of Free Methodist evangelist Elmer Ellsworth Shelhamer came here three years ago, after her husband died.

In a Negro slum centering around a two-story row house, she established her Free Methodist Mission. Here, she felt, she could do the most good.

The rundown house cost $15,000—that's Washington real estate. Mrs. Shelhamer had only a thousand, but she went to work.

Things went unbelievably well at the humble little church. Her friends all over the world responded and the mortgage was pared down to $1400.

Then, last spring, Mrs. Shelhamer became distressed over the newspaper story of a prominent Washingtonian's suicide.

Someone ought to be able to help these people, she said, and she prayed. An ex-newspaperman who was staying at the mission wrote a cryptic want-ad and handed it to her.

"I wasn't much taken with it at first," she said. "But he insisted and I let him publish it."

It first ran for three weeks in The Washington Daily News:

Julia Shelhamer: For the want-ad, 80 prayers a day.

"MYSTERY; phone for discouraged. DI. 0614."

Immediately the calls began to come in. They were from people, mostly men, who were discouraged; many who were thinking of suicide. Calls came from the curious too, but often even they had problems.

"One night a man called and said he was in great trouble," Mrs. Shelhamer said. "I asked if he was discouraged. You see, you can't ask just what the trouble is. It wouldn't be ethical and it wouldn't be the psychological way to find out either.

"I just talked to him like I would to my own son and pretty soon he said he was very unhappy. His beautiful wife had left him, and taken their two children. He was apparently walking the floor. He couldn't be consoled."

Mrs. Shelhamer suggested what she thinks is the only remedy.

"I said, 'Well the Lord can help you.' But he was in such desperation that he couldn't receive consolation from any source. There was something very strange in his voice. I said, 'Son, are you thinking of suicide?'

"He told me I was a pretty good guesser."

Mrs. Shelhamer began to pray. "I think I prayed for a full minute, right over the telephone. When I got through his voice was changed. 'Oh,' he said, 'you've helped me. I feel better now. I'm going to work tomorrow and I'm going to forget all about it.'"

Most of her conversations were just as successful. The phone rang almost constantly. She took out the ad, but the calls came anyway. Then she re-inserted it, but limited the time she would answer the phone — "2 p. m. to midnight."

"They'd call just the same, day or night," she said. "To be jarred out of a sound sleep—sometimes I wish they'd leave me alone, but they want somebody to talk to them about their soul's salvation, and there are so few people who will do that."

One day she counted the calls—110. She says a "good conservative estimate" is 80 a day—seven days a week—since last spring. It figures out to better than 20,000 calls.

"I find the world is sick and lonely and tired and disgusted with life, especially the sinners. If God helps me I can say the right thing—five or six words will do the job."

She is so swamped she has several people helping her answer the phone now — one girl is a would-be suicide who came to see her.

All this is getting to be almost too much for Mrs. Shelhamer. The little woman who has helped so many is weary.

"I'm so tired and scared and nervous," she says. "If you pray for me, I think I'll be all right."

U. S. Industrial Might Forges New Production Plan to Speed Jet Assembly And Minimize Air Attacks

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Starr Correspondent

LOCKLAND, Ohio — (NEA) — The Air Force and General Electric believe they have discovered a brand new way to harness America's industrial might to war production.

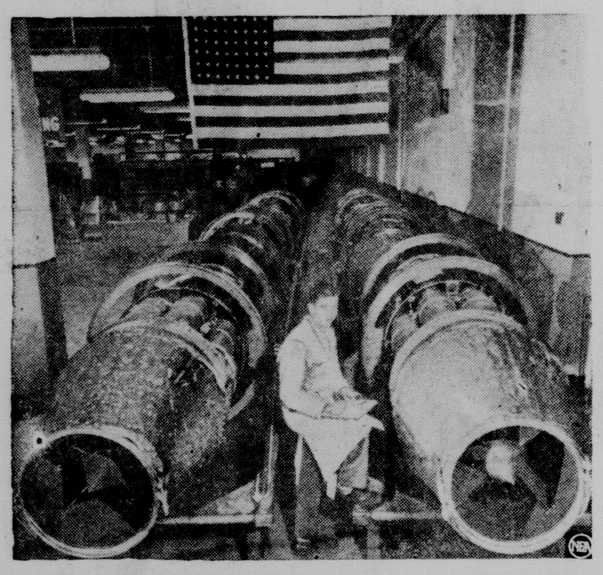

It is called the Lockland Plan, after the name of the jet engine plant here. On the basis of its success this plant is being expanded into the biggest jet engine production center in the world.

The Lacklan Plan consists of buying parts and sub-assemblies from sub-contractors all over the U. S., with final assembly and testing of the engines here. Subcontracting to this degree has never before been attempted. But its proved success is now guiding the air force in all plans for future production of aircraft and engines.

The advantages are numerous, an Air Force spokesman points out. By spreading the actual manufacture of parts around the country in large and small plants it reduces the inherent danger of America's industrial concentration. It is an effective method of decentralization without actually moving plants.

SHIPPING A JET is the final step at Lockland. James Schatzel and Donald Mains (left to right), put a metal container on the engine. If it falls in the ocean, it'll float.

There are multiple supplies of each part, so if one sub-contractor is bombed out production can continue. If the main assembly plant is bombed, it is much easier to restore a simple assembly line than a whole complicated manufacturing plant.

The Lockland plan gives small industries all around the country a share of war orders. But most important it has proved itself capable of tremendously fast expansion. Since the Korean war started, jet engines output has doubled. Facilities which had been kept at minimum operation with small sub-contracts were able to expand quickly.

More than 280 subcontractors now furnish various parts for the new J-47 jet engine being made here. Parts flow in from all over the U. S. by truck, train, and even airplane at times. Sub-contractors range in size from the big Thompson Products Co., of Cleveland, the Fairchild Engine Co., and the Wright Aeronautical Co., down to the Z & W Machine Co. of Cleveland, with 10 employes, and the Aircraft Precision Products Co. at Ferndale, Mich., with about 100 workers.

Even a big food company, General Mills, is a sub-contractor. It converted an appliance plant to jet engine part manufacturing.

* * *

Lockland plant manager, K. F. Houseman, says there has never been a production setback due to delayed shipment of any one part. And she sees no delay on the horizon, even though the increase of jet engine production has been made one of the top priority items since expansion of the armed forces began.

When the plant gets along full blast under present expansion plans, it will employ approximately 12,000 persons. Right now it is working six days a week with almost a full night shift. So far, Houseman says, there is no labor shortage and none anticipated. The plant has all of the greater Cincinnati area to draw from.

Expansion of jet engine production, until the Lockland Plan proved itself, had the Air Force worried because it was the one big item for which there were no World War II facilities to fall back on. Only a very few jet planes had been made by the end of the war.

This situation inspired the Lockland Plan in the Air Force. And when GE was approached to try it out, inasmuch as that firm had done so much of the pioneering in jet engine development, the company agreed to go along.

* * *

This vital war plant is almost as carefully guarded as an atomic energy installation. Guards are everywhere. Each employe is carefully screened and checked for loyalty before being put on the payroll.

As the huge, round, cylinder-shaped engines take from moving down the assembly line, elaborate precautions and inspections have to be made. For instance, at the start of each stage of assembly, a carefully-counted package of bolts is handed to the foreman of that particular operation. If there is one bolt left over or one bolt short when that step is finished, the part has to be taken down and started all over.

After it reaches the end of the line, the engine is started and run for several hours in sound-proof test cells made of thick reinforced concrete. Elaborate instruments record the thrust and performance. Then the engine is completely torn down and reassembled, and tested again.

The jet power plants are shipped out in big metal containers that will float in case they are dropped into the sea, an indication that the engines coming off this line are heading straight across the Pacific.

Houseman believes the Lockland Plan will also have wide application in private plants, operating on strictly peacetime contracts. He says it permits a big manufacturing operation with a relatively small capital investment, and that GE is seriously studying the plan for adaption to its non-military production plans.

TESTING A JET, left, is done by Bruce Roberts, Lockland test leader. Elaborate precautions—even to counting bolts—are taken with every engine.

Miss Baker to New Position

Mrs. Catherine Smith Baker, a former Sedalian and case worker at the Pettis County Welfare office, is the recently appointed executive director of the George H. Netterton Home for Aged Women, Kansas City, and entered upon her duties this week.

Mrs. Baker is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Harvey Baker Smith, of Marshall, and recently resigned as a case worker for Family Service, Kansas City. Her father has been conducting special night services here at the First Christian church.

Mrs. Baker is a graduate of the University of Kansas City School of Social Work. She has had considerable experience in social work, including a year's training in child's guidance clinic.

She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Kappa Delta, national sociology group and Alpha Pi Zeta, honorary social service organization, a member of the American Association of University Women, the American Association of Social workers and the Missouri Association for Social Welfare.

HAVEN FROM WAR—The flag of the Red Cross flies over a harbor aid station as weary refugees from the Korean war pour ashore at the island of Cheju. Inset map shows location of the mountainous little island 75 miles off the south coast of Korea, where some 70,000 war-displaced Koreans have sought refuge. Over 1000 Korean orphans have been airlifted here where they are under United Nations care.

The Age of Elk

BOZEMAN, Mont.—(AP)—Do you have an elk? Want to know it age? Just bring the elk or one of its teeth to Montana State college. Researchers will get out their calipers, measure the tooth, do some figuring and come up with the age of the elk.

The age of an elk may be of scant general interest, but it's important knowledge for big game managers who want to know the age of animals being killed. Managers know that the herd is healthy if many of the killed elk are young. But if older animals are numerous, some adjustment must be made to preserve breeding stock.

The ages are determined by comparison with the teeth in skulls from animals the age of which was known.

Pig Project

DES MOINES, Iowa—(AP)—The Graettinger High School Future Farmers of America chapter has set up a pig-raising project. The chapter borrowed $2,500 from a Graettinger bank with a dozen local citizens signing the note. Dale L. Schnirring, faculty advisor for the chapter, says it is hoped to pay off the note in two years.

The chapter has 49 members. Each boy cooperating in the project will be given a gilt this spring by the chapter. In order to pay back the loan, the FFA will be given first and third choice of the first litter produced. The boy receives all remaining pigs and full ownership of the sow. With some exceptions, all pigs of the first litter are to be sold at a cooperative boar and gilt sale.

Moslems Demand British Evacuate Suez

KARACHI — (AP) — The world Moslem conference here unanimously called for unity of the Nile Valley against "disruptive" outside influence. Maulana Abdur Rashid Makki of Mauritius declared that "The day we make our strength felt to those who are trying to disrupt the unity of the Nile, they would pack up and quit."

Prof. Abul Haleem, vice-chancellor of Sind university here, told the final conference session that all Moslem nations should demand immediate withdrawal of British troops from Sudan and the Suez area.

Russians Claim New Grain Variety

MOSCOW—(AP) — The Russians claim to have developed a perennial variety of rye which gives excellent harvest not only for one or two years, but in some cases for three years in a row without replanting.

This grain has been sown on 40,000 hectares in the Kuban and is to be sown on additional large acres in the coming planting season. The new variety was developed by crossing various types of annual rye with wild perennial rye.

Perennial rye develops a large root system which enables the plant to use moisture efficiently. In addition, perennial rye, after it has been harvested, grows green sprouts which can later be harvested as hay for cattle.

Parade And Wear Green for St. Patrick

By Arthur Edson
(For Hal Boyle)

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP)—Sure, and it was blessed St. Pat's day again, with parading and a-wearing o' the geen and Irishmen everywhere saying how great Irishmen are.

And every congressman who ever had an ancestor who ever put his foot on the ould sod—and there are many of them—was advertising that fact, at length.

The Swedes come over here, the Germans come over here. The French, the Italians, the Austrians, the Poles and the Afghanistanians come over here.

After a generation or two, the old country is forgotten.

But not with the Irish, never with the Irish. Why must the Irish always be so Irish?

No one knows for certain the answer to that question. But it may go far back into the history of Ireland, a country about the size of South Carolina, with a population about that of North Carolina.

A long, proud but bitter history, Ireland has. A history of extreme poverty, of gigantic emigrations, of eternal bickering if not downright fighting with the English.

From the start, the Irish came to this country.

Edward F. Roberts, who wrote "Ireland In America," claims the Irish never got full credit for the part they played in the revolutionary war. Roberts Darkly gives his reason for this omission. The history books, he says, were written by men of English origin.

But the Irish did their bit, and much more, Roberts says. And it was no accident that on March 17, 1776, George Washington himself announced the password for the day.

Lord love the man for the scholar, patriot and soldier he was! The password was "St. Patrick."

Became Irish Potato

Year after year the Irish poured in. But the great emigration was the result of Ireland's greatest of many tragedies.

The potato, a native American, had so taken to the green valleys and plains of Ireland that it had become the Irish potato. As early as 1660 it was the national food.

Many Irish depended on it entirely.

In 1848 came the great blight, the blight that kill the potatoes, the blight that killed the Irish by the hundreds of thousands.

The thing wrong with statitstics is that they don't suffer and it's hard to express suffering by using them. Yet think of a nation of 8,500,000 people. In two short, dreadful years 1,000,000 starved. Another frightened 1,000,000 fled to other countries.

To America they came, poor, scared, unskilled. They helped supply the muscles America needed, yet many were despised, patronized, laughed at.

But they beat their way up, many of these Irish. Or their sons did, or their sons' sons.

They have furnished great leaders, great writers, great priests and, to be fair, great rascals, for no country and no man is perfect.

But let's don't mention that on St. Patrick's day. In deference to the stormy past, let's let the Irish have their say.

And if any Irishman take offense at anything I have said, the back of my hand to him.

Sure, and wasn't my grandfather an O'Connor?

"Please Write Me A Letter"

Frequently, in this column, we have stressed the importance of the contacts made by the members of Junior Red Cross in this country with the children of Great Britain and Europe. This last week our official mail included some more letters, this time from Germany, and as usual, thanking our local JRC for the gift boxes which they filled and which the chapter shipped. The letters are all gracious, and appreciative, but one thing stands out: the great need of these German children for friendship, and for understanding. In each letter there is the plea "Please write to me . . . please let me hear from you." One little boy enclosed his picture, and asked for a picture in return. He is a stamp collector, and enclosed some of his precious collection with the hope that his unknown correspondent might thus become his known friend and fellow collector.

These children are the men and women of tomorrow. Seeds of kindness, of compassion, planted now by the boys and girls of our community, will grow, and increase as the years apss, and may make for a peaceful future. If the children of the United States and Germany become friends, then the men and women of the future United States and the future Germany will be friends.

WRITE TO THESE CHILDREN.

They have asked for letters. Here are their names and addresses:

Either address will also reach Werner Mika, who is 12.

A letter is a little thing to write. But great things may come of these letters. Write now.

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—West German tax advisers whose business it is to save their client's money had better be soft-spoken about how they do it.

One such enterprising counselor proudly bared in a newspaper ad his gimmicks for easing the taxpayer's burden. State authorities promptly brought suit and a fine of $23.80 was leveled against the man. It was, said the court, illegal to exploit publicly the weaknesses of the tax laws.

Pies Save Party

PASADENA, Calif—(AP)—Wilbur Jensen, 76, who is a deaf and dumb, thought he was going to take a $100 loss on some chicken and apple pies he bought for a party. He'd planned a party for at least 100 deaf and dumb persons, hoping to organize a club. But only 10 showed up.

A group of teen-age models who had volunteered to stage a fashion show for the affair saved him half the loss. They sold $50 worth of leftover pies door to door the next day. Jensen and his neighbors went on a pie diet to consume the rest.

New Eligibles Social Security

Are you failing to collect old-age and survivors insurance benefits for which you are eligible under the new Social Security Act?

Scott Webber, manager of the Sedalia Social Security office warned today that people made eligible for benefits on last September 1 by the new Social Security law must claim them by March 31 if they are to get the full amount payable.

The new law makes it possible to honor many claims that had to be disallowed before. However, those affected must file new claims at his office before any payments can be made.

"Back benefits can be paid for only the six months before the month of application," Webber explained, "and people who were made eligible in September but who haven't been in touch with us since then should inquire promptly at our office or by mail."

He listed the following classes as those most likely to be affected:

1. People 65 or over who have worked as much as a year and a half on social security-covered jobs. These can get benefits if their earnings under social security do not exceed $50 monthly.

2. People 75 and over who have worked as much as a year and a half on covered jobs. These can get benefits though still regularly employed.

3. Chidlren under 18 of deceased Veterans of World War II. The mothers of others having charge of such children should apply.

4. Children under 18 of a deceased mother who had worked under social security. Whoever is in charge of the children should apply.

The Sedalia office is located at 511 South Ohio, and the staff there will give all necessary information and assistance in connection with claiming benefits.

FIREBALL POWERED

Powered for thrills - Priced for thrift!

HERE, packed in 3,615 nimble pounds and 204.8 inches of over-all length, is the car marvel of '51. In the few short weeks since it started to roll off the assembly lines, it has written a bright new page in automotive history for the low-priced field.

What Buick engineers have done is come up with a brand-new high-style body—new in every contour and dimension.

They've designed a brand-new, weight-saving frame, exclusively for this SPECIAL.

Then they've added the power-packed F-263 Fireball engine—which was new in the 1950 SUPER—and just wait till you see what that does for this nimble performer.

There's a power-to-weight ratio that spells thrill and thrift in operation—at a first cost that's just a breath away from the lowest price level.

We'd like you to see and drive this newest Buick marvel—find out for yourself what a honey it is to handle, and what a cinch it is to buy. Why not drop in and see us the very first chance you get?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Mr. Green spent 15 years in Missouri before he went to Portland to engage in the grocery business. At the time his health failed two years ago, he sold his grocery store and went into retirement.

Mr. Green was the son of the late Charles and Annie Botts Green, former Pettis countians.

Burial was in Portland, Ore.

Funeral of Robert W. Berry

Funeral services were held for Robert W. Berry, shoe company representative, and one of the owners of the Berry-LeBeck Manufacturing company, of California, Mo., at the Williams funeral home there at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The Rev. Kenneth C. Johnston and the Rev. James Heisner were the officiating ministers.

Interment was in the Masonic cemetery at California. The following served as pallbearers: J. T. Lee, R. W. Heck, G. A. Shore, P. A. Bolinger, P. A. Lebeck and Herschel Alldredge.

Attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Six, Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Ewing, Ellisville; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sullivan, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Washburn, Gravois Mills; Mrs. Ralph Hall, Versailles; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Green, Mrs. Harry Satterwhite, Russell Glenn, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Berry and son, Jeff., Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McVey and daughter, Yvonne, Mrs. Laura Bery, Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Taylor, Mrs. Walter McMillan, Harvey Thompson and Mrs. Pearl Thompson, all of Sedalia; Mr. and Mrs. V. P. Long, Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Allee, all of Kansas City, Mrs. S. Y. Roth, of Eldon.

Mr. Berry passed away Saturday, March 10 in St. Mary's hospital, Jefferson City after becoming ill while traveling in Minnesota for the Wohl Shoe company, of St. Louis by which company he had been employed for the past 17 years. He arrived home on December 14 and entered the Jefferson City hospital on January 3 and remained there until his death.

Mr. Berry was born in Sedalia on June 26, 1900, a son of Joseph and Laura Berry. His father died in 1938.

He married Miss Lucy Dickson of California, on June 17, 1937 and made his home there from that time on.

His territory as a shoe salesman was Minnesota, North Dakota and parts of South Dakota and Montana for several years and in more recent times was Minnesota and North Dakota. He spent a number of months each year in those states.

During periods at home he became identified with affairs of the community, purchased some properties there and took an active part in local events.

Mr. Berry was rated as one of the best bait casters in Missouri and took a delight in fishing. A study of equipment used for this purpose resulted in his producing, with assistance of Paul A. Lebeck, a line of artificial bait, known as "Ozark Lures" which is patented in both the United States and Canada, and widely sold through the two countries.

Principals in the "Ozark Lures" line are the "Talky Topper" and the "Wee-Gee."

Mr. Berry was a member of the Methodist church, Lions, Masons, and the American Legion. He served in World War I.

Surviving besides his wife are his mother, who resides in Sedalia, a brother, Campbell Berry, and a sister, Mrs. W. A. McVey, both of Sedalia; three half-sisters, Mrs. T. W. Taylor, Sedalia, Mrs. Birdie Huntsman, Kansas City, and Mrs. Margaret Glasburn, of Ft. Smith, Ark.

James E. Parks

James E. Parks, a resident of Bakersfield, Calif., died there Wednesday afternoon. He formerly lived in Lincoln, Mo.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Antonia Parks, a daughter, Miss Nora Parks of Bakersfield, his father, Orbia Parks of Lincoln, five brothers, Lyman Parks of Sedalia, Enwood Parks, Samuel Parks and Vance Parks, all of Kansas City and Payton Parks of Lincoln. Five sisters, Miss Tennie Parks of Bakersfield, Mrs. Corrine Smith and Miss Joyce Parks, both of Edwardsville, Kas., Miss Faye Parks of Kansas City and Mrs. Gladys Wesley of Bonner Springs, Kas., also survive.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the Second Mission Baptist church in Windsor. The Rev. W. E. Burns will officiate. The funeral is in charge of the Alexander funeral home of Sedalia.

ditional cost to the tax payer," he concluded.

Mr. Bagby Addresses Group

Former Mayor Julian H. Bagby was called upon and made a few remarks and congratulated the Council on their fine financial report at the close of the business of 1950.

Virgil Herrick, a former Councilman from the Fourth Ward, also spoke and reviewed the progressive administration of the Democrats, as did Walter Jesse, former councilman from the Third Ward.

William F. Brown gave a most inspiring Democratic talk on elections and getting out the voters for the Democratic candidates.

The Rev. Vint Bowlin of the Gospel Tabernacle, took the floor and denied remarks the Independent Voters League was a branch off the Republicans. He called attention to their interest as being strictly religious and that no candidate would oppose Dr. Lively, although he said he was speaking without authority.

Charles Bolton, and Edward Behen also gave a few remarks concerning the election.

Attention was called to the new registration dates which will be this Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday with books being open from 8:00 o'clock to 6:00 o'clock the first two days and from 8:00 until 5:00 o'clock on Wednesday.

Church Laymen Meet Monday

The Sedalia Council of Christian Laymen, of which Jack Cunningham is chairman, will have a meeting at 7:30 o'clock Monday night at the First Baptist church for the purpose of furthering plans for the meeting to be held in Sedalia on Saturday night, April 7, Sunday morning and afternoon, April 8.

Robert Gilmour LeTourneau, manufacturer of the world's largest earth moving machines, but who has become famous not from being an industralist or inventor, but from his work in doing God's work, in preaching, in giving his money and helping others, will be the speaker.

A powerful talker, LeTourneau travels over the country telling his story of his rise from bankruptsy to a great industrialist through his firm belief in God, and the Sedalia Council of Christian Laymen, a new organization in Sedalia, has succeeded in arranging for him to come to Sedalia in April for meetings which will be open to the public.

Find For Both Parties In Suit

A jury which heard the damage suit of Ray A Oakes, Kansas City, against Glen Chamberlin, Hughesville, found for the defendant on the plaintiff's action and for the plaintiff on the defendant's cross bill, after a trial which lasted for two days. Oakes sought $21,300 damages from Chamberlin, and Chamberlin had filed a counterclaim for $6,400.

The suit was brought as a result of an accident on Highway 40 and Blue Ridge Road in Jackson county, August 15, 1949.

The jury composed of Dan Robinson, foreman, George M. Bryan, Paul Marsh, L. C. Holdner, E. J. Dirck, Paul Brim, Emmett Ruffin, L. B. Hammond, Hall Alexander, Mrs. Mason Riley, John Hampton and John M. Westermier, returned the following verdict: "We, the jury find the issues in favor of the defendant upon the plaintiff's cause of action, and of the plaintiff upon the defendant's counter-claim."

Attorneys in the suit were Harvey Roney, Kansas City, and Fred F. Wesner, Sedalia for the plaintiff and Martin, Salveter and Gibson for the defendant.

Second Night Of Style Show Big Success

Songs, Dances And Other Offerings To Entertain

Successful from both a standpoint of good entertainment and financially were the two nights of the Variety Show presented Thursday and Friday at the Smith-Cotton auditorium.

The Friday night show opened with W. A. McVey, president of the Smith-Cotton P. T. A., which sponsored the show, introducing George Deuel as master of ceremonies. Deuel, a junior, is a member of the debating team.

The Round-up Jamborie, with the high school students in their Levi's and plaid shirts lending atmosphere to the well presented program of songs and dances as well as the outstanding roping acts of Jimmie and Bennie Rossi.

Pupils of The Harper School of Artistic Dance were introduced by Mrs. Harpers and gave an excellent performance. Perhaps the one which caused the most laughter were the tiny girls in red and white pinafores and bonnets that looked like peppermint candy. They really put on a show with their dancing and singing and the group of little snokeflakes were equally cute. The entire show was smooth with the five little girls in their top hats and long tailed coats singing and dancing "Forty-second Street," the tiny blonde who sang "The Lonesomest Gal," the group in the purple spangled suits and three cornered hats, the three little farmettes with their corncob pipes, all tapping and singing. The ballet dancer were particularly good and Leslie Eells not only showed her talent at singing and dancing but did a toe dance as well.

Suits, Dresses, Accessories

The style show put on by Flower's Ellis', Lockett's Mitzi Shop, Russell Bros., Wilson Clothing Co., Town and Country, and was really a beautiful show of spring fashions. Included were women's styles of suits and dresses with topper or pyramid coats, bolero dresses, pure silk dresses as well as piques, colltons, and linen. Lilacs, lipstick red, yellows, pinks, navy black, almost any wanted shade and flowers accented the costumes. Hats were both plain and fancy, small and large. The youngster fashions matched the mothers in color and material in many cases. For the men, the clothes were both dressy and sport types.

Miss Shirley Joe Wilson, in a white formal, was commentator.

Levi Strauss had a show all their own with Margaret Kathryn Eickhoff, LeRoy Street, Art Conley, with Jimmy Farmer and Kathy Herman in pint size Levi's.

Miss Nellie White was in charge of the ticket sales was presented a corsage as were Miss Milo Swearingen and Miss Verna Ott, whose rooms sold the most tickets.

Three Divorces Were Granted Saturday

Three divorces were granted by Judge Dimmitt Hoffman of the Circuit court Saturday. They are as follows:

Divorce granted to Irene Ware from Thomas E. Ware, Jr., William F. Brown represented the plaintiff in the case.

Divorce granted to Emma Marie Keightley from Orval Keightley. George Anson represented the plaintiff, and a divorce granted to Valmeta Jones from Alvin Jones. Fred F. Wesner represented the plaintiff.

Uphill Future Pull For The Hoover Report

Path From Now On May Prove Out Rocky One

By Clark Beach

WASHINGTON, March 17—(AP)—The path is likely to be rough and up-hill for many of the Hoover Commission recommendations from now on.

About half the suggestions for government reform made by the famous study group in early 1949 have now been put into effect. They included some major reforms and required some highly important legislation and executive action, but the really tough nuts have yet to be cracked.

Steps To Be Considered

Here are some of the chief steps recommended by former President Hoover's group, called the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, that have not yet been acted on:

1. Transfer the river, harbor and flood control activities of the Army Corps of Engineers to the Interior department. The commission wants the corps' work consolidated with that of Interior's Reclamation bureau. It wants an impartial board of review to pass on all projects. The idea is to curb "pork barrel" projects and high-powered lobbying, which encourage wasteful undertakings. But the Corps of Engineers has innumerable strong and zealous partisans on its side.

2. Unification of all government medical manpower and facilities. Government agencies which now control their own hospitals, doctors and so forth want to continue to control them. The Hoover commission said such a system is profligate of medical resources.

3. Reorganization of the entire Department of Agriculture. The commission said it is a "loose confederation of independent bureaus and agencies" with a score of huge units operating independently and often at cross purposes. Each of these units has powerful sponsors in Congress and throughout the farm country.

4. Establishment of a cabinet-level Department of Social Security, Education and Indian Affairs. The president has submitted two reorganization plans to accomplish this. In each he included health and medical activities in the new department.

The commission didn't recommend this, and Congress twice rejected it. Now bitter opposition has been aroused against the administration's plan for a new department. Opponents contend it is a scheme to promote "socialized medicine."

5. Appointment of postmasters without Senate confirmation, to build a career service without political favoritism. Senators don't like this, for obvious reasons.

6. Establish an accountant general in the Treasury department. This would take away from the General Accounting Office (GAO) its power to supervise government accounting activities. The GAO is an agency of Congress, created so that Congress could check on how the executive branch spent the money Congress gave it. Capitol Hill insiders say there isn't a chance in the world that Congress will accept this recommendation.

7. Complete overhall of the Veterans' Administration (VA) to cut red-tape, give veterans better service and save money. Some veterans' groups have vigorously fought any changes in VA.

Only five per cent of the Hoover Commission's recommendations regarding veterans' affairs have been put into effect, according to the Citizens' Committee for the Hoover report. This is a group of prominent persons who got together to work for adoption of the commission's recommendations.

Estimate Given

The committee makes the following estimate of the extent to which the other 17 Hoover Commission recommendations have been put into effect:

Agriculture department zero per cent.

Social Security, Education and Indian Affairs five per cent.

Medical Activities 10 per cent.

Treasury department 20 per cent.

Interior department 20 per cent.

Federal business enterprises 25 per cent.

Post office 30 per cent.

Personnel management 35 per cent.

Armed forces unification 95 per cent.

Office of General Services 95 per cent.

General management of the executive branch 80 per cent.

Budgeting and accounting 85 per cent.

Foreign affairs 80 per cent.

Labor department 80 per cent.

Commerce department 70 per cent.

Regulatory agencies 66 per cent.

Overseas administration 50 per cent.

Periodic studies are being made to keep a check on the progress of reorganizations recommended by the Hoover Commission. They are made not only by the citizens' committee but also by the Budget bureau and the expenditures committees of the Senate and House.

All agree that more than half the work has been accomplished. All cite these as outstanding achievements:

Armed forces unification and general reorganization; reorganization of the State department; establishment of the Office of General Services, which supervises or handles government buying, record keeping and office space; reform of budgeting and accounting practices throughout the government; modernizing of the general management of the executive branch; realignment within the Commerce department; realignment and reorganization of most of the regulatory agencies; expanding the Labor department and clarifying and strengthening the power of the secretary.

The Senate expenditures committee estimates that of the 300 congressional bills that would be required to implement the Hoover report 70 have been enacted. Of 35 reorganization plans submitted by the president only six have been rejected. The Senate committee reported Dec. 19 that nearly all the executive offices have taken extensive administrative action.

The citizens' committee estimates that economies made so far will save the government almost $2,000,000,000 a year.

Drug Doubles Plant Chromosomes

WASHINGTON, D. C. — (AP) — The chromosome count in plant cells has been doubled in experiments conducted here by Dr. Hamilton P. Traub, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The doubling process was effected by repeatedly dosing the plant with a small amount of the drug colchicine.

Dr. Traub states that the drug has enabled scientists to produce new and better varieties of certain plants. Colchicine is a poisonous drug itself derived from a plant: the autumn corcus or colchium. In some colchicine experiments the drug has killed the plant. In others it has modified some of the plant tissues.

Defendant Is a Monkey

COLUMBUS, Ohio — (AP) — The Ohio supreme court will try to unravel a case about a monkey who grabbed a $10 bill from a lady customer in a pet shop.

When Miss Katherine Busch tried to retrieve the money, the monkey bit her. She sued the Cleveland pet shop operators, and a lower court awarded her a $1,700 verdict.

The pet shop operators, in their appeal, maintain Miss Busch should have assumed she could get the $10 back from the monkey.

Geese Guard Farm

CLOVERDALE, B. C.—(AP)—Geese have replaced Fido as the watchdog on the farm of William Hoehn. His hybrid geese, descendants of a Saskatchewan wild goose mother, guard the farm and children and spread an alarm the minute a stranger appears.

"They're better protectors than any dog we ever had," says Hoehn.

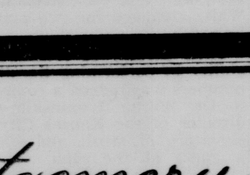

The big birds were produced through the mating of a Toulouse gander and a wild goose sent from Yorkton, Sask.

Markwell Twins Delight Audience

Ann and Sue Markwell, identical twins, delighted the audience at the Helen G. Steele Music Club, with a duo-piano recital Wednesday afternoon.

Although only 13 years of age they played with a matured understanding of the works they so successfully mastered by the varied composers.

They were especially commended for their performance of the Sonata in D major by Mozart, the Spanish Dance from "La Vida Brave" by Manual de Falla, especially arranged by Wiktor Labunski and Le Soir by Chaminade.

For encores they played the brilliant "Chinese Dance" from the Nutcracker Suite by Tschaikowsky and a Rachmaninoff Waltz arranged for two pianos by Labunski.

Their display of technique and ability in performing the difficult numbers was indeed a compliment to Dr. Wiktor Labunski, who is director of the Kansas City Conservatory of Music and who was a guest of the club. Mr. and Mrs. Markwell from Gashland, Mo., parents of Ann and Sue, were also guests.

A luncheon preceded the program.

Mrs. E. F. Yancey, life president, opened the meeting. An announcement was made by Mrs. Alfred Potts in regard to the annual Music Festival. Mrs. Yancey announced the state convention which will be held in St. Louis, April 3 to 6. Mrs. Edythe Ross announced the program for March 21st, a song cycle entitled "In a Persian Garden" under the direction of Latonia Barnett.

Mrs. Ross then introduced Dr. Wiktor Labunski, who in turn presented Ann and Sue Markwell.

After the program the meeting was turned over to Mrs. H. L. Hodges, chairman of the day, who expressed thanks to Dr. Labunski and to the little artists for a very enjoyable afternoon. Mrs. Yancey also expressed her appreciation.

The program in full was as follows:

Sorosis To Have Chalk And Talk Program Monday

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mauntel of Washington, Mo., will present a unique program Monday afternoon at Sorosis, with Mrs. Mauntel talking on the "Historic Sites in Missouri" and Mr. Mauntel, with colored chalk and sketchpad, illustrating her talk.

Both from old Missouri families the Mauntels talk and chalk about the state, its birds and trees, its styles of architecture, its historic sites, materials which they had been unconsciously gathering for years as they hiked and traveled around the state.

It was after they closed the door on an insurance agent that had just sold Mr. Mauntel retirement insurance that they began to wonder what they would do when he did retire. He liked art, had studied at the Washington university and Chicago and so their hobby started. It had taken them over the state to all types of gatherings and they like meeting the people from all parts of the state. They believe, too, that they are promoting a greater interest in its welfare and its beauty, encouraging Missourians to see the beauty of their state and help in making it more beautiful. For the Mauntels, there's no place like Missouri.

Mrs. Mauntel is second vice-president of the Federated Garden Clubs of Missouri and was the first chairman of the Blue Star Highway Memorial and is secretary of the Missouri Roadside Development council.

Your Wardrobe
By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

The way you'd love to look during the warm and hot sunny days must be considered now. Your summer wardrobe should be selected with great care and early, because the warm days sometimes arrive early with great intenseness.

Linen type fabrics are the material of the year. Serrano is a name to remember, as it is crease-resistant, yet washable. It comes in brilliant shades as well as dark colors. You'll find it fashioned into suits, dresses, separates such as skirts, blouses, slacks and peddle pushers as well as the increasingly popular duster.

Chambray, broadcloth, organdy and voile will also be important in your summer wardrobe. You have some exciting surprises in view when it comes to the voile dresses that will be available this summer. In the past, this material has been made up in the fancier type dress, but now you'll find them in the more tailored styles and they are gorgeous — more about summer next week.

Casting This Week For Play

Final casting for "My Sister Eileen" will be completed at two try-outs to be held Tuesday and Wednesday nights, according to Frank F. Evans, who will direct the play. He will be assisted by Mike Bogutski and Mrs. C. W. Stephenson. The play readings for the three-act comedy, final presentation of the season by the Sedalia Community Playhouse, will be held at 7:30 both nights, at the V. F. W. hall, 107½ West Main "My Sister Eileen" will be presented on May 1 and 2 at Smith-Cotton auditorium.

"There are 19 speaking parts for men in this comedy," said Mr. Evans at a meeting of the club on Wednesday night, "and since some are small roles, acting one of them would be an excellent first experience for a new member who does not wish to attempt a major role. There are six female roles, and try outs will be held both nights for all of these parts, including the title role of "Eileen." Men and women interested in reading these trys outs are welcome to attend the meetings."

Scott Webber, president of the club, presided and announced Maurice F. Hogan had been appointed by the board of directors as production manager for the new play, with W. E. Bruce as stage manager. Mrs. Neil Reyburn was welcomed as a new member Tentative plans for next season's plays were discussed, and reports on the club's highly successful presentation of the melodrama, "Dirty Work at the Crossroads," were given.

Miss Delta Mae Dunkin, 117 East Broadway, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Frank Moreland Russell, Radioman Seaman, 1/c of the U. S. Navy, is announced by her parents. Mr. Russell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Russell, 602 East Eleventh street, and is on his way to the United States from Korea, where he has served for some months.

Each holiday brings activity to a Girl Scout, for she thinks of others who are less fortunate than she is.

Troop 82 at Washington school made St. Patrick's favors for Melita Day Nursery. Mrs. Garnet Starkey and Mrs. Oliver Thomas are the leaders.

Troop 6 at Smith-Cotton with their new leader, Mrs. John Erickson, made tray favors for Bothwell hospital.

Girl Scouts in Troop 9, Washington school, also made favors for Bothwell hospital. Miss Rosie Sieving is leader.

Mrs. Kenneth Mann and her Troop 71 at Washington made a scrap book for the use of children at Bothwell hospital.

The Senior Girl Scouts are busy getting ready for their conference at Jefferson City, March 30, 31 and April 1. The Sedalia Scouts are planning the Friday evening Frolic. Six of the Senior Scouts are taking part in the "Huddles." Bobby Ann Dale, Carolyn Houston and Emily Dick are speaking on "Day Camping." Charlotte Salveter, Pat Keating and Betty Ann Kline are using social project as their theme. Twenty-nine girls from Sedalia will attend the three day meeting.

There will be a workshop for all leaders in the Girl Scout office on Tuesday, March 20 at 1:30 o'clock. Classes in pipe cleaner craft, tin craft and glass etching will be offered.

Three Diseases Exact Heavy Toll

SINGAPORE—(AP)— Singapore's three big killers—pneumonia, tuberculosis and enteritis — claimed 3,501 lives in 1950, the Municipal Health Department announced.

Pneumonia took a toll of 1,261 lives, while 1,195 died of tuberculosis and 1,045 of enteritis. During the year there were a total of 9,567 deaths and 33,220 births, the Health Department said.

Czechs Boost Schools

PRAGUE — (AP) — Dr. O. Pavlik, deputy minister of education, says Czechoslovakia now has 21 institutions of higher learning with 38,700 students, against 10 with 19,800 in 1938. He gave the figures at a conference of the Central Union of Czechoslovak Students. Nineteen thousand students now draw state aid, he said, compared with 2,387 in 1938. This ranges up to $40 a month.

Great Books Club To Meet

Expurgated selections from the Leviathan, Thomas Hobbes' treatise on his conception of the psychological origin of "inalienable rights" and of the condition of "natural man before the origin of a stong state," will be the Great Books discussion by the Great Books group, Tuesday, March 20th. The meeting again will be held at 240 South Vermont avenue.

Miss Mary Helen Mayer will also review a new Devin-Adair book: "Great Books—A Christian Appraisal." Volume III. For the past three years Harold C. Gardiner, S. J. has gathered from sixteen noted authorities an evaluation of each of the 16 books chosen by the Great Books Foundation for a year's discussion.

The 8th book in the third year program is Thomas Aquinas' treatise "On the Teacher." Miss Mayer translated this work from the Latin and wrote a commentary on it as part of the requirements for her Master's degree. Her thesis was published by the Bruce Publishing Co., of Millwaukee and a translation of it into Portuguese was published in Sao Paulo, Brazil. Numerous readings from it were included in E. A. Fitzpatrick's: "Readings in the Phiosophy of Education." And now in this recent book, Miss Mayer's book is listed in the bibliography as worthy of reference.

Coaches Pick Bob Shawver As All-Star

CMC ALL-STARS

Name	School
Bob Musgrave	Columbia
Joe Kretchmar	Jefferson City
Bob Shawver	Smith-Cotton
Dick Robbins	Kemper
Harry Renick	Hannibal

The Smith-Cotton high school basketball squad placed one player on the Central Missouri Conference all-conference team which was picked Saturday by athletic officials from the various conference schools. Bob Shawver was the S-C cager to receive the honor. Shawver was the teams leading scorer and rebounder. He is also all-conference end in football.

In other business the conference officials had on the agenda, it was decided to cancel the proposed CEMO basketball loop which has been pushed by Jefferson City and Sedalia. There will be no conference pre-season basketball tournament next year. Next year's cage schedule was arranged.

It was voted to have the conference track, tennis and golf tournament on Tuesday, May 4, at Kemper Military Academy in Boonville.

Bob Roark, coach at Columbia's Hickman high school, was elected president of the conference by the officials.

The all-conference first team took the name stars, but the second squad has plenty of highly regarded cagers.

Second Team Name	School
Bill Morgan	Smith-Cotton
Tom Trimble	Columbia
Nick Grevan	MMA
Ben Pitney	Hannibal
Pete Connelly	MMA

The three remaining members of the Tiger's starting five, senior Bill McCrary and Eddie Johnson and junior Claude Murphy, all received honorable mention.

Smith-Cotton was represented at the meeting by coaches Ralph Dow and Jim Ball and principal Joe Benson.

Athletes Hear Coach Stalcup At Club Banquet

"Sparky" Stalcup, head basketball coach of the Missouri University Tigers, was the guest speaker of the Sedalia Civic Club Athletic Banquet, which was held Friday night in the new cafeteria at Smith-Cotton high school. Approximately 100 young athletes from Sacred Heart and Smith-Cotton high schools and members of the various civic organizations were present.

Stalcup spoke on "Basketball Today And In The Past". He also gave information about the athletic program at Missouri and of the Missouri cage squad's prospects for 1950-51. The film of the Kansas-Missouri game at Columbia was shown and commentary on the different players given.

Bert Hathaway, president of the Sedalia Civic Council acted as Master of ceremonies.

Among those present were Kenneth Love, president of the Rotary; Kenneth Bucholtz, president of the Lions; Maurice Hogan, president of the Optimists; Miss Hazel Barnett, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; T. H. Yount, president of the Kiwanis; and Bob Wall, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Besides the athletes, the school officials in attendance were Father A. J. Brunswick, pastor of Sacred Heart Church and Coach Palmer Nichols. From Smith-Cotton, principal Joe Benson, Coach Ralph Dow, grid mentor, Jim Ball, cage head, and Howard Glavin assistant to Dow and Ball also attended.

Chisox Win Over Browns

PASADENA, Calif., March 17—(AP)—Eleventh inning blows by rookie J. W. Porter and Joe De Maestri gave the Chicago White Sox a 7-6 exhibition baseball victory over the St. Louis Browns today.

The Browns had sent the game into extra innings with a four-run splurge in the ninth.

Porter, 18-year-old bonus baby who caught the entire game, opened the eleventh with a triple off Frank Overmire. De Maestri, draftee from Birmingham, Ala., followed with a single to fasten down the decision for Gar Hamlen, freshman righthander who pitched the last two innings.

The big blow in the Browns' ninth inning spree was Ken Wood's double.

The victory was the sixth in seven exhibition starts for the Sox.

Hamline Uses Height To Win NAIB Tourney

KANSAS CITY, March 17—(AP)—Hamline University of St. Paul, capitalizing on towering height, won its third national intercollegiate (NAIB) basketball championship by beating classy James Millikin University 69-61 tonight.

It took the best the giant Pipers had to overcome one of the scrappiest teams to vie for the championship. Not until the closing three minutes, when Hamline struggled into a 66-61 lead did the issue appear settled.

The Pipers started stalling and the freeze worked to close out one of the tourney's most exciting finales, witnessed by 9,500 fans.

In the game for third place, Baldwin-Wallace of Bera, Ohio, defeated Regis College on Denver 82-78.

In the drive to the finish of the championship game it was Lloyd Thorgaard and Jim Fritsche who nullified the shooting of brilliant Scotty Steagall of Millikin who counted 29 points.

Fred Wilt Loses In Bankers Mile To Don Gehrmann

CHICAGO, March 17—(AP)—Don Gehrman, after three straight defeats, uncorked a blazing finish for a five-yard win over his arch-rival, Fred Wilt, before 16,023 in the Bankers' mile of the Chicago relays at the Chicago Stadium tonight.

Gehrmann's time in acquiring his fourth straight Bankers title was respectable 4:09.7.

Although Gehrmann ran a well-paced race, he yielded the spotlight tonight to pole-vaulter Bob Richards, who sailed to a 15 foot, 4¾-inch height in the seventh excursion over the 15-foot mark in his career.

Ray Sets Pace

Stewart Ray of the New York Athletic Club set the early Banker's mile pace for the four-man field. On the eighth lap of the 11-lap grind, Wilt moved into the lead and Gehrman stayed right with him, a few yards behind.

Entering the final lap, Gehrman turned on his patented sprint, caught and passed Wilt on the backstretch and won with a driving finish.

Dennis Johansson, Purdue freshman from Finland, placed third and the tiring Ray was fourth and last.

Whitfield Wins Easy

Sgt. Mal Whitfield, double winner in the recent Pan-American games, loped to an easy 600-yard win 1:11.6, beating Jack Carroll, University of Michigan freshman, by six yards. Third was the early pace-setter Drake's Jim Lavery.

Richards After New Mark

Richards tried for a new world mark, with the cross-bar set at 15 feet, 8⅞ inches, but failed to come close in three tries.

The sky-climbing reverend had the spot-light to himself as his next closest rival, Don Laz of Illinois, missed at 15-1 after clearing 14-6.

Bonds Forfeited At Police Court Session

Defendants failed to appear in police court, Saturday morning, but business was good. Thirteen overtime parking violators bonds of $1.00 each were ordered forfeited by Judge Jerry Trotter.

Ruby Sears, Salina, Kansas, who police reported they "clocked" at 60 miles per hour on Broadway from Ohio avenue to Moniteau avenue, failed to report and her cash bond of $25 was ordered forfeited.

CBC Defeated By McPherson; On To Denver

The Cenetral Business College Basketeers will play their first game in the National AAU Basketball Tournament at Denver, Colo., this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock against the Levitch Jewelry team of Spokane, Wash.

The Central Business College Basketeers lost their first game on the way to Denver for the National AAU meet to the McPherson, Kas., American Legion team by a 79-69 score.

The two teams, respective state champions, go tomorrow to Denver for the National AAU finals.

Big Ben Ireland tallied 26 counters to lead the locals while Jim Sutter, little all-American quarterback with Wichita college's grid squad pumped in 20 markers to pace McPherson.

The Basketeers gained an early lead and held it for ten minutes but fell behind at the end of the first half. The lead changed hands four times in the second period. Near the end of the first half the Legions found the range and gained a 42-29 advantage.

Foster McGuire pumped in 14 tallies for the locals to take second honors. Others scoring for the Sedalians were Elwell 10, Koones 5, Lobb 8, Clark 2, Harris 2, and Anderson 2.

For McPherson Dale Anderson tossed in 13. Anderson was one of the high scorers in the nation for Bethany college. Others scoring for the Kansans were Meors 1, Grant 5, Rex McMurray 11, Pjesky 1, Hanrson 13, Russ McMurray 1, Kasey 7, Tillman 7, and Nutter 20.

Both teams play Sunday in the AAU. No drawings have been made.

NIT Title Easily Won By Brigham

NEW YORK, March 17—(AP)—Brigham Young's magnificent Nomads, getting an All-America performance from bouncing Roland Minson, shattered Dayton's Cinderella dreams, 62-43, tonight to win the National Invitation Basketball Championship.

The six-foot Minson, a midget in this day of hardwood giants, Garden crowd of 18,379 with a Carden crowd of 18,379 with a fantastic exhibition of rebounding, stealing and shooting. He couldn't be contained.

The energetic youngster with the crew haircut shot Dayton dizzy, with either and both hands and from all parts of the floor to back up 26 points.

With a 20 point lead, 64-41, and two and a half minutes to play, Coach Stanley Watts pulled out his regular team—Minson with it—and amid a defening road from the crowd.

Minson's six-foot-five teammate, Mel Hutchins, nullified Dayton's potent scoring threat, long Don Meineke, limiting the six foot seven pivot star to seven points including only one field goal. Meineke was the tournament's leading scorer with a total of 77 points for his first three games.

With Meineke completely handcuffed, Dayton's popular little round man, 230-pound Leland Norris, took the Flyers offensive burden on his own ox-like shoulders and gave a show that fell only a mile short of that of Minson.

Ronnie McGilvray's two-handed jump shot in the final second of a double overtime gave St. John's of Brooklyn a stirring 70-68 victory over Seton Hall tonight for the third place consolation in the National Invitation Basketball Tournament.

MILWAUKEE, March 17—(AP)—William S. (Bill) Chandler, Marquette University basketball coach for 21 years, resigned today.

Chandler will remain at Marquette as a professor of physical education in a proposed expanded program in that field.

Sport Scraps

By D. Kelly Scruton

SMITH-COTTON should not be governed by a decision of the Central Missouri Conference which voted Saturday not to have a baseball league, this year. I hope to see the Tigers carry on with the sport which was resumed last year after an absence from the sports calendar for many years.

The local high school has any number of potential baseball players, players good enough to build a real strong ball club. I hope that Coach Jim Ball will get them out on the field again this year and pep 'em up to the point where they will have another good team.

The eary spring training helps to sharpen the boys up for both the Junior American Legion and the Ban Johnson teams, resulting in Sedalia having some real competition in the sport in that age group. It is a sport which brings some mighty good sports publicity to Sedalia, it goes for the high school and the two amateur teams as well.

So, Smith-Cotton, even if the CEMO doesn't feel it can compete with your baseball club don't fold up. Go ahead, organize your team and play high schools which do enjoy having the sport on their spring schedule.

SEDALIA'S high school athletes from both Smith-Cotton high school, and Sacred Heart high school, are talking, talking about the good time they had at the dinner given them by the Sedalia Civic Council, in Smith-Cotton's new cafeteria, Friday night.

It was wonedrful meeting with Wilbur "Sparky" Stalcup University of Missouri's basketball coach giivng the principal talk of the evening. Also on the program were several motion pictures of games the University played in.

All-in-all, it is one of the very few honors which is bestowed upon Sedalia's youth after they have put through a hard season of high school athletics.

Yankee Farm Clubs Produce Rookies To Rescue Stengel

LOS ANGELES, March 17—(AP)—That ancient truism to the effect that "them as has gits" appears to be holding up splendidly for the champion New York Yankees.

Professor Casey Stengel, presently engaged in directing an emotional binge for coast fans, is about convinced her has found the replacements he needs to keep the bombers on top this year—maybe for some years to come.

In Gil McDougald, who burned up the Texas League for Beaumont last season, he believes he has found the reserve infielder who can ease the pain caused by the loss of Billy Martin and Bobby Brown.

"He's shown me he can make the throw from third," Case said. "We already knew he could hit and field. So he can help Bill Johnson out at third, and now and then I might let him play his regular position at second to give Gerry Coleman a rest."

McDougald Has Edge

It was significant that Stengel didn't mention any of his other infield candidates several of whom are considered very promising. He seems to have settled on McDougald, the prize protege of Rogers Hornsby.

A close second on Casey's rave list at this point is Mickey Mantle, the newest Joplin ghost, who is being groomed in a hurry to take Joe Dimaggio's place in the outfield if the Clipper retires after this season.

"The Kid can run and throw with any outfielder in the game right now," Casey declared. "I think he might become the best switch hitter since Frankie Frisch. Tommy Henrich is working on his fielding and the improvement already is remarkable.

Mickey To Be Farmed Out

"I'm going to send him out. I can't keep a boy like that sitting on the bench. I'd rather have him playing every day and learning to catch fly balls in the sunlight. He's never played before except under the lights. But I'll have him in where I can get hold of him in a hurry any time during the season.

"My, how that boy can run. He goes from first to third looking back at you, and the umpires always call him safe. That's important, he's the future, that boy. He's the future."

Mantle, playing shortstop for Joplin last year, hit a terrific .383, which included 26 home runs, 30 doubles and 12 triples. He drove in 136 runs. As the Peerless DiMaggio prepares to bow out, perhaps his successor is at hand. It would be typical Yankee fortune.

Young Southpaw Looks Ready

Finding a young southpaw pitcher to take the place of Whitey Ford, last year's rookie sensation, isn't proving easy. But Casey is extremely high on Bob Weisler, another Joplin product who is trying to make the big jump. Although Weisler's won-lost record was only 15-7, he struck out 277 batters in 188 innings, which must be close to par, and had an earned run average of 2.35.

"He's got it," says Casey. "Not a doubt in the world about it—speed, control, everything. He would have had a wonderful record last year, only he got hit on the jaw and lost five straights. He's from Independence, Kas.

To complete the rosy picture in the Yankee camp, Stengel says that Joe Page, greatest of present day reliefers, continues to look like a million.

Past Honors Don't Console Aged, Lonely Connie Mack

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., March 17—(AP)—He has been idolized and revered by millions. He has been a symbol to fans and players for over five decades. He has been feted all over the world. He has contributed more to the game than any other human being. Yet baseball's grand patriarch is a lonely old man today.

Cornelius McGillicuddy, better known as Connie Mack, won't admit it, but the evidence lies all around him. His famous folding chair, placed out on the field near the dugout, still is there, but he never sits in it. As in days of old, the trainer still provides his sandwich and bottle of milk daily in the club house, but he's never there to claim it.

Connie Attends Every Game

Connie attends every game but, except for his chauffeur, he goes there alone. He lives alone in his suite at the hotel since his wife had to return to Philadelphia for treatment of a cold. He dines by himself and spends his evenings alone in the hotel lobby. He craves company. At the park, he sits all by himself in the stands behind home plate.

"I haven't noticed the difference, the kindly old gent tells you. "I manage to keep busy."

That's Connie Mack. Never an unkind word about anybody. He covers up his bitterness well. He disdains any sympathy that might be offered over his dismissal from any active participation by his sons.

"I'm just a fan now," he says, "and I'm enjoying it. I should have stepped out a year earlier. I like it better sitting right here in the stands. No more worrying, no more strain. Yes, I enjoy being just a fan."

The old gent, undoubtedly, is trying to speak with sincerity and conviction. But his actions belie his words. Even while talking to you, he's looking wistfully out on the field, watching intently everything that's taking place.

Connie may have yielded to Jimmy Dykes as manager of the Athletics, but in heart he is still running the club he founded in 1901. Even at 88, he finds it impossible to stay away from the park and divorce himself from the team he guided through its first 50 years.

"I went to one of the first spring training camps ever held," He reminisced. "I couldn't quit now."

Huskers Rehire Bill Glassford For Five Years

LINCOLN, Neb., March 17—(AP)—William J. Glassford, head football coach at the University of Nebraska, today was given a new five- year contract.

Heretofore Nebraska coaches, including Glassford, have been hired on a year-to-year basis.

The new contract, effective July 1, gives Glassford $11,000 a year, the same salary he has been getting since his present contract became effective Feb. 1. But provision is made also for salary increases in the future, tied to increases in the general level of pay provided for University Faculty members.

Also included is an additional five-year option on Glassford's services.

The University regents who awarded the new contract termed it a "vote of confidence" in Glassford, whose team last year won six, tied one and lost two games.

The contract says Glassford can pick his own assistants, subject to approval of the Intercollegiate Board of Athletics.

Solly Hemus Beaned; Not Seriously Hurt

Tigers Finish In Sixth Place At Central Meet

Coach Bob Karnes fledging Smith-Cotton tracksters garnered few points but much experience Saturday afternoon by placing sixth in the eight-team Central College indoor invitational meet at Fayette.

Three Tigers finished in the money in three different events to compile the local's score. Smith-Cotton point-makers were Warren Keenes, who finished fourth in the mile; "Whitey" Bryant, fourth in the shot-put; and "Skio" Schultz, who won fifth place in the pole-vault.

Don Pummill ran through the preliminaries in the high hurdles and the 60-yard dash, but lost-out in the semi-final heats in both events. Floyd Burton also was eliminated in the dash semi-final.

Maplewood, a power from the St. Louis district, won the trophy and William Christman of Independence finished second.

The Tiger track squad will next compete in the Kemper indoor meet this coming Friday.

Bosox Handcuff Cards

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 17—(AP)—Water Masterson and Maurice McDermott handcuffed the St. Louis Cardinal hitters today as the Boston Red Sox took a 2 to 1 decision in their spring exhibition game.

One of McDermott's pitches caught Solly Hemus near the base of the skull. Hemus was taken to a hospital for examination after emergency treatment.

Jr. Gremlins Take Tourney On S-H Court

The Sacred Heart grade school basketball team captured its own tournament, Friday night, when it defeated the fighting five of Warsaw before a capacity crowd in the Sacred Heart gym. The Sedalians overpowered the visitors 22-9.

A Cautious First Quarter

Sacred Heart, playing a cautious game in the first quarter, led 9-4 at the end of the period. Then they turned on the gas in the remaining quarters to run up their final margin.

The accuracy and general all around team play of Sacred Heart was out-standing, and contributed to Warsaw's down-fall. Jimmy Dick was the S-H spark plug piling up 12 points to emerge as high scorer of the contest. The rebound work of Tommy Adams and Robert Bennett also aided the Gremlins.

Warsaw, even in defeat, was game to the end. Holloway with 7 points was high scorer for Warsaw.

In the fight for third place basketball honors, Lincoln finally succeeded in downing a fast, stubborn Marshall Mercy Academy five, 19-13, after stopping Marshall's come-back in the fourth quarter. Ficken and Hedrick led Lincoln with nine points each, while Jimmy Fox with eight led the Marshall quintet.

Volleyball to Houstonia

In the volleyball finals, a strong Houstonia team displayed its consistent tournament strength, and won the first place trophy by beating a good La Monte team 20-13. Dennis with six points and Martin with five were the high scorers for Houstonia. Pasley led the La Monte girls with three points.

In play for third place, Hughesville showed its pre-tournament power by downing a fighting Smithton team 25-15. Phillips of Hughesville with ten points and Glenda Blaylock of Smithton with three were high scorers for their respective teams.

The Sacred Heart Grade School tournament, as evidenced by the fine crowds that attended the sessions and especially the capacity crowd that attended the finals, proved a huge success.

Trophies to the first, second and third place winners in both basketball and volleyball were awarded after the finals by Father Anthony Migoni, athletic director at Sacred Heart and coach of the grade school team.

Pat O'Sullivan Holds Her Lead In Titleholders

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 17—(AP)—Patty O'Sullivan, playing in a Shamrock Green skirt, combined her Irish Luck with brilliant playing today to head the parade in the Titleholders Golf Tournament.

The little Irish girl from Orange, Conn., shot a third round 77 for a 225 total to stay just in front of Claire Doran, Cleveland, Ohio, school teacher.

Claire, Patty Berg and Beverly Hanson, ranking in that order after the second round, needed only 76 strokes apiece, to move up one notch each on Miss O'Sullivan. Claire's total is now 227, Patty Berg's 229, and Beverly's 231.

Babe Zaharias partially cured her Titleholders troubles with an improved 77 but her total of 236 practically removes any hopes she has of catching the leaders and successfully defending her 1950 title.

Behind the Babe but still among the better ranked golfers are: Peggy Kirk, Findlay, Ohio, with a 76 for 237; Marlene Bauer, Midland, Texas, an 81 for 241; Marge Lnndsay, Decatur, Ill., 80 for 241; Mrs. Julius Page, Jr., Chapel Hill, N. C., 84 for 243; Alice Bauer, Midland, Texas, 81 for 244, and Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga., and Marjorie Burns, Greensboro, N. C., tied with 245's after rounds in 75 and 81. Marilynn Smith, Wichita, Kas. had an 83 for 246.

Ferrier, Shields Set A Blistering Pace At Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 17—(AP)—Jim Ferrier, tournament veteran, and Jack Shields, tournament novice, shot their second straight four under par 68 for the 36-hole lead in the $10,000 Jacksonville Golf Open today.

Ferrier, the big husky Australian who plays out of San Francisco had 33-35 for his 68. Shields, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, did it with 34-34.

Their 136 totals put them four strokes out front of two youngsters—Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass., and Milon Marusic of Albany, N. Y. Toski and Marusic each added 69s to open round 71s over the 6,508-yard Hyde Park course for 140.

Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., first round leader with 67, needed 74 blows today and had a total of 141.

Worked at Once

George Westinghouse invented the railroad air brake when he was 22. It prevented a grade crossing accident on its first test in 1868.

Waves as high as 50 and 60 feet have been observed in the South Atlantic off the Cape of Good Hope.

'Sparky' Now In Army

Richard "Sparky" Keene

Richard L. P. "Sparky" Keene, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Kenne of the Lamplighter Lodge on east highway 50, is now stationed with the U. S. Army at Camp Chaffee, Ark.

"Sparky" is a former football and basketball star at Ottawa, Kas. high school. He attended Wentworth Military Academy in 1947.

Stationed with Keene is Don Dowdy, son of Mrs. Lucille Dowdy of 1403 East 12th street. Don won football letters both at Smith-Cotton and with the Warrensburg Mules. He graduated from Smith-Cotton in 1950, and was the Mule's number three center last fall.

Texan Clears 6-Feet-9¾, Nears Record

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 1—(AP)—Tall Charles Holding leaped higher today than any man had jumped in Texas. It was a dazzling feat in a Southwestern Recreation Track and Field meet that had six records broken and two tied.

Holding, a 6-foot-6 freshman from East Texas State College, zoomed 6 feet 9¾ inches—an inch and a quarter under the world's record—to furnish the highlight of the two- day meet.

Oklahoma A and M. won the prized University Class championship. The Aggies raced to 30¾ points to win the blue ribbon division—4¾ better than Southern Methodist, a surprise second-place finisher.

Abilene Christian College won the college division with 32½ points, Texas took top honors in the college freshman class with 38. Victoria easily captured the junior college title and Brady whipped the defending state schoolboy champions, Odessa, in the high school class with 27⅔ points. Odessa got 25 points.

Holding's great jump not only set a new record in the college division, where the standard was 6 feet 4½ inches, hung up by Bill Hunt of East Texas State in 1939, but was an over-all record. It eclipsed the university class record of 6 feet 8¼ inches set in 1940 by Leon Don Boydstun of Oklahoma A. and M.

Les Steers of Oregon set the world record at 6 feet 11 inches in 1941. Holding tried for Steers' mark today. He leaped three times with the bar at 6 feet 11½ inches and barely failed on each effort.

Enraged Fans Chase Eckert At Mat Show

Patrons Take Part After Local Matmar 'Roughs-Up' Meyers

Wrestling fans temperature wa sent soaring, Saturday night, dur ing the feature event between Ra Eckert of California, Mo., an Sonny Meyers of St. Joseph, whicl ended in a draw. A near rio occurred during the first fall whe fans climbed through the rope and started after Eckert.

The match between Primo Car nera, Rome, Italy, now of Lo Angeles, with Jerry Meeker, Mis soula, Mont., proved to be rougl going for both men, but the gian Primo was just a little too muc for Meeker. It was something t see the former heavyweight box ing champion of the world in. th wrestling ring and how easily h got around the mat.

Primo Clubs Meeker

Primo in the first fall used bod slams to do away with Meeker i nine minutes and 32 seconds. Th second fall ended in 10 minute and 51 seconds after Carnera go a little tired of being roughed u by Meeker and put his big righ fist to Meekers chin for the count

In the opening event Denni Clary Houston, Tex., stopped Jac Terry of Dayton, Ohio, with rolling body scissors. It too Clary just 11 minutes and 24 seconds.

But Eckert using the Texas rule tactics in his meeting with Meyer became a little "too rough" i beating Meyers and won the fal with a rolling chin lock. So enraged were the fans at this point several went over the ropes int the ring after Eckert. Ecker jumped from the ring only to fal into the middle of a gatherin mob there. He wormed his wa free and made it to the dressin room by split seconds. Time o the fall was 22 minutes and 3 seconds.

Meyers Uses 'Foreign Object'

In the second fall period th rough going got rougher and Mey ers when knocked out of the ring picked up a foreign object and "clunked" Eckert on the head The Californian hit the mat and Meyers on top for the fall in five minutes and 40 seconds.

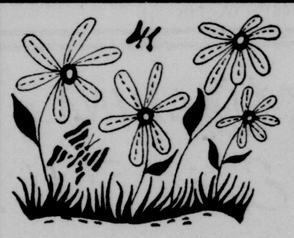

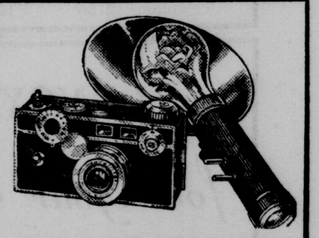

The two giants beat each other around in the third period with Meyers having the best of the fall when the bell sounded ending the match in a frenzied draw.

38 AAU Teams Enter Women's Cage Tourney

DALLAS, Tex., March 17—(AP)—A record thirty-eight entries will start firing in the six-day women's National AAU basketball tournament beginning here tomorrow. The tournament returns to Dallas after a 20-year absence. It ran for the past seven years at St. Joseph, Mo.

Included among the entries is last year's champion, Nashville Business College from Nashville, Tenn. The NBC defeated their cross-town rivals, the Goldblums, in last year's finals, 29 to 26.

Top challengers for the Business College's crown are expected to be Hanes Hosiery of Winston Salem, N. C., American Institute of Business from Des Moines, Iowa; Viner Chevrolet, Denver, Colo., Atlanta Blues, Atlanta, Ga., American Institute of Commerce, Davenport, Ia.; Nashville, Tenn., Dreamettes, last year's Nashville Generals, and the Dallas Hornets.

Tommy Dorsey Is Coming

Tommy Dorsey

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is bringing America's number one dance band to Sedalia Monday, April 9. Tommy Dorsey, his trombone and his orchestra will all be here and so will the fabulously beautiful golden voiced Frances Irvin.

You'll sure want to be on the floor at the Convention hall when Tommy plays his famous theme, "I'm Getting Sentimental Over You." Ticket sales will be limited to assure adequate floor space, for enjoyable dancing.

Tommy Dorsey has continuously stayed among America's top musical attractions for 20 years. His career has been highlighted by one triumph after another.

The list of band leaders and vocalists who have served under Tommy reads like an all time all star line-up. It includes such internation stars as Frank Sinatra, Jo Stafford, Connie Haynes, Dick Haymes and band leaders Bob Crosby, Ray McKinley, Gene Krupa and the late Bunny Barrigan and Glen Miller.

Tommy has recorded over 300 tunes which have sold over 70,000,000 copies. Best of all, Tommy's popularity has never declined through the years and today he is still considered by millions of faithful admirers, old and young, to be America's top attraction in the dance band field.

Pakistan Has Food Surplus

KARACHI —(AP)— While its Indian neighbor pleads for food, Pakistan still has a surplus of both rice and wheat, official sources here report. An economic deadlock over the question of exchange rates—Pakistan refused to devalue its currency when India joined other soft currency countries in a downward revision in 1949—has halted trade between the two neighbors.

Official sources said about 200,000 tons of rice in the Pakistan province of Sind will be surplus in the year 1950-51. Most of this will be consumed in east Pakistan and in Ceylon. Of a similar quantity declared surplus in 1949-50 about 50,000 tons are still in Karachi awaiting disposal.

Approximately 175,000 tons of surplus wheat has been reported from Punjab, most of it from harvests which under normal conditions would be sold to India.

Stork Misses Time Table

ANDERSON, Ind. — (AP) — Mrs. James Rose gave birth to a child in an ambulance on the way to a hospital a few years ago. So she called the same ambulance recently when the stork hovered near again. This time the stork arrived sooner than the ambulance. The new baby, a boy, was born at the threshold of the Rose residence.

Snowfighter King Retires

VANCOUVER — (AP) —Vancouver's "king of the snowfighters" has retired. Michael (Big Mike) Abrahamson was Canadian National Railways roadmaster and a colorful figure through 46 years of railroading in B. C.

His biggest fight came a year ago when big slides tumbled into the Fraser Canyon. He worked almost without sleep for 10 days before the slide was cleared.

Christian Science Lecture March 25

A public lecture on Christian Science has been announced for next Sunday afternoon, March 25 by First Church of Christ, Scientist. Ralph E. Wagers, Chicago, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak on "Christian Science: Its Revelation of Divine Sonship." He will discuss man's spiritual identity in the likeness of God, man's relation to God, and also the nature of God Himself, as set forth by Christian Science.

Mr. Wagers has lectured widely in the United States and elsewhere on Christian Science since he became a lecturer in 1946. For a number of years prior to that he had been engaged in the practice of Christian Science healing in Chicago. Formerly well known in the lumber industry in Wisconsin, he left business life in 1925 to devote his full time to the work of Christian Science.

Mr. Wagers will speak at 3:00 o'clock, March 25, in the church auditoriumn, Sixth street and Lamine avenue. The public is invited to attend without charge.

Beats Self Insane At a Ceremony

DARWIN — (AP) — "Manbullo Maudie," a 30-year-old aboriginal woman, clubbed herself insane during a primitive ceremony 300 miles south of Darwin recently.

She is now in Darwin hospital, where she screams and shouts all day. At night she performs the ceremony, beating herself with her fists, until she is exhausted and collapses.

Maudie became insane during the furneral corroboree (native dance) after the death of her brother, who was thrown from a horse. She and other members of the family bashed themselves with spears, bludgeoned their heads with pieces of rock, and danced and wailed for hours before collapsing. Many of them had severely lacerated heads when the ceremony ended.

Indian Wolves Abduct Children

LUCKNOW, India—(AP)—Officials here report that in the last eight months wolves and hyenas have carried away 35 small children from villages around Lucknow. The latest was a male baby of 18 months killed by a wolf in Sarora Village.

During the eight months hunting parties have slain 94 wolves and hyneas but attacks by the animals, in search of food, have continued.

War Vets May Secure A Loan

World War II veterans in Pettis county may qualify for a direct government loan to buy or build a house, W. F. Fidler of the Veterans Administration office said today.

While veterans in Sedalia are excluded from this privilege, those in the outlying county may qualify for this benefit which was made available by the Housing Act of 1950.

Fidler said this benefit, which runs only until June 30, makes direct loans up to $10,000 available, under certain conditions. Generally, a veteran must meet the same requirements as those stipulated in a GI loan. He said that these direct loans are being made available in areas where the VA has found that four per cent financing from private sources has not been obtainable.

Those who have located property which they would like to purchase with a direct loan should send a description of that property, together with the price, to the VA regional office. For those in this area that office is located in Kansas City, Mo. After such information has been received, this office will mail the veteran an application form. Receipt of such an application does not, however, mean approval. That would follow only after the completed application had been returned to the VA and a determination of eligibility made.

Cadillac
Its Great Name is Free!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim illustrated are subject to change without notice.

If there were some way to strip a Cadillac of every identifying emblem it possesses, and judge it solely by the way it rides and handles and performs—it would still be quickly recognizable as the "Standard of the World."

But think what a Cadillac brings you in addition to the solid value of its engineering and performance and comfort and handling ease—the wonderful Cadillac name!

Perhaps in all the world, there is no inanimate object which speaks so eloquently as the Cadillac shield. It talks of background, of progress, and of faultless workmanship. It proclaims a promise of years and years of the utmost motoring satisfaction. It speaks of its owner, and identifies him as a man of accomplishment and discrimination.

In fact, there is nothing good and wonderful a motor car can bring that isn't promised or implied by the beautiful Cadillac shield. And it speaks a universal language, which is understood and appreciated the wide world over.

And remember, you pay no extra penalty for the pride and pleasure of having this great and distinguished name. They come as a "special dividend" with every Cadillac car.

We deeply regret that we are unable to deliver new Cadillac cars without some delay. But the demand for the car is unprecedented—and much of the company's energies and materials are now being devoted to the needs of national security. Once the car is delivered into your hands, however, we know you'll agree that—patience never brought a richer reward.

Korean War Gives Tactical Air Force Big Lift

Ground Support Aviation Now Has Equal Status With Strategic Air Command

TAC's Weapons: F-86 Sabres, a potent weapon of the Tactical Air Command, fly over California.

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

LANGLEY AIR FORCE BASE, Va., — The Air Force is well on its way to correcting one of the Pentagon's biggest post-war errors.

Nine months ago, the Tactical Air Command was a paper organization of frustrated, highly-decorated fighter and light bomber pilots with not one plane they could call their own. Economy-eager experts at the Pentagon were saying: "Why have an expensive major air command for the support of ground troops when the army hasn't enough ground troops worth supporting?"

Then came Korea, with its shocking revelation of the state of America's military forces. The tactical air arm was one of the worst aspects — through no fault of TAC.

Today TAC has been given a legal status equal to that of the Strategic Air Command. From TAC headquarters here 10 groups are being whipped into various advanced states of organization at more than 10 bases around the country. By mid-summer a portion of these ground-support groups are expected to be combat-ready. And five more groups will have been organized.

They include the troop-carrier groups of 48 C-119s each; fighter-bomber groups and reconnaissance bomber groups with 75 planes each, most of which are now equipped with World War II B-26s, and a light-bomber group which is practically combat ready with B-45 jets. The fighter groups which have been training with the older P-51s are now being equqipped with the latest F-84-E jets.

About 80 per cent of TAC's build-up is from the ranks of week-end warriors, Air National Guard and active reserve pilots who have been called to active duty. Their average age is between 30 and 35. They've brought their families with them. Most of them have taken cuts in pay. It's not an easy new life.

And, although they had forgotten the headaches of military red tape and still chafe under the necessary Air Force administrative details, their flying proficiency has amazed TAC's top commanders. Maj. Gen Glenn O. Barcus, TAC's No. 2 man and a veteran leader of ground support units during the last war, puts it this way.

"These men have brought to our outfits a wealth of experience and flying ability which we never dreamed of having during World War II. They've responded to training amazingly well and are making a wonderful contribution to putting tactical air back in business."

The morale of the Air Force pilots who have been called back to duty is extremely high.

Top man of TAC is a veteran fighter pilot, Lt. Gen. John K. Cannon, a tough and efficient organizer. He has just been called back from two years as commander of U. S. air forces in Europe to take over this important assignment. His first military service was as an infantry officer. In 1922, he got into the Air corps and has been in tactical aviation ever since and has seen combat in North Africa, the Mediterranean and Europe.

When Cannon took over, however, he found a going concern with plenty of solid and new plans under way as part of the mobilization. Already progressing well are such things as the training of tactical air control parties to be employed with front line army units. This is being done at TAC's Ninth Tactical Air Force at Pope Field, adjoining Fort Bragg, N. C.

TAC's Gen. Cannon: He took over a going concern.

It involves close training with infantry units, parachute training for some units that will operate with airborne troops, the use of new radio equipment and new procedures learned in Korea.

TAC units have supplied pilot replacements for Korea and many Korean-experienced pilots are back with various groups to help with training.

One outstanding accomplishment of TAC is a new and closer cooperation with army units. Specific Air Force units have been assigned to support specific army units and have been stationed as close together as possible.

The 40th infantry division at Camp Cook, Cal., for example, will be supported by the 116th Fighter group at George Air Force base, Calif. The 40th and other National Guard divisions will actually train and hold maneuvers with their assigned fighter groups. This is shooting at the kind of close air-ground cooperation which is standard Marine Corps practice and which has paid great dividends in Korea.

To a certain extent, the build-up of TAC is being delayed by shortages of equipment and airplanes. The reconnaissance groups are using bombers and have had to install make-shift cameras to perform their training missions, and the latest type of electronic equipment is slow in coming.

Eventually, every airplane assigned to TAC will be jet-propelled. But this will take years.

And while the training program of all TAC units is not being seriously affected by shortages and bottlenecks, their combat-readiness obviously depends almost entirely on how soon the jets and new electronic gear become available.

Muster Days For Frolic, Fun, Not Much Military Training

By the State Historical Society of Missouri at Columbia, Floyd C. Shoemaker, Secretary

Pioneer Missourians converted compulsory military training into a festive affair in which the whole community took part, at "Muster Days" in the first half of the 19th century.

The regular Missouri militia was established in 1804 under the federal law of 1792 providing for a uniformed militia throughout the United States. Militia service was regarded as an obligation a citizen owed his government, and he served—in most cases—without pay and armed himself at his own expense. In Missouri from 1804 to 1847 free white males of 18 to 45 were compelled to attend musters and to serve in the militia when it was called to active duty.

A holiday air prevailed in the settlements on muster days, for military drills were seldom long, or taken very seriously. At one time as few as 32 men could make a company and 128 a regiment, which resulted in a surplus of officers. The appearance of the men did little to give muster day a military flavor, for each company chose its own uniforms and equipment; a neckerchief and a side arm were usually thought sufficient. Most of the officers, unless they belonged to the regular army, had no more elaborate uniforms than the men. A colorful uniform adopted for the Missouri militia in 1820 consisted of a blue hunting shirt trimmed with red, white pantaloons and vest, and black hat with black cockade and red plume, but this uniform was not in use very long.

In Varied Garb

Gert Goebel, a German immigrant to Missouri in 1834, said that his summons to attend militia muster directed him to come "armed and equipped, as the law directs." But since no one knew what the law said, everyone came dressed and equipped as pleased his whim. Goebel said of the men lined up for drill, "It was a mob after all. Some had coats on, others were in their shirt sleeves, while still others wore hunting shirts, but none had guns."

Drill was a helter-skelter affair, with men paying little attention to commands, dropping out of line to have a drink, to rest, or, as in one instance, to pick strawberries. Goebel said that the men knew nothing about military discipline, but the officers regarded their behavior as "perfectly natural."

After the companies were dismissed, the men staged races and contests of skill or strength, and politicians made stump speeches. Spruce beer, sweet cider, and cookies were offered for sale. Sometimes stronger drink was available, and one writer complained in 1822 that it produced "noise and confusion and insubordination in our ranks, as well as many bloody noses after the dismissal of the companies." Later a law was passed making the possession and sale of liquor on the parade ground a punishable offense.

Missouri's militia served a very real need in the early laws when the Indians were a menace to the settlers, but as the tribes withdrew, the need became less, and compulsory service was discontinued after 1847.

Garden Theme For Smelser Club

Gardening was the theme of the Smelser extension club meeting February 22 at the home of Mrs William Kraft.

A quotation by Washington or Lincoln were given in answer to roll call.

Have your soil tested different varities of vegestables for garden and most effective insect control was the lesson presented by Mrs. William Brandhorst.

Mrs. Walter Kraft gave a talk on "Country Women of the World Speak Out." "Missouri Laws" concerning family relatives were given by Mrs. Charles Brandhorst.

A committee was appointed to investigate the purchase of a fire extinguisher to be used in the church as a club project.

It was decided that members take clothing for a needy family to the next meeting.

Each member is to suggest a hint to raise money for the club.

Mrs. Everett Vannoy led a game after which refreshments were served to twelve members, five visitors and seven children, present.

The March meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Charles Brandhorst March 22. Roll call will be "A housekeeping job I enjoy."

Teen-Agers Creat Stir

THE PAS, Man.—(AP)—Strange little men ran through the bush one night near Island Lake, 300 miles northeast of Winnipeg. Superstitious Indians said they must be "Windigos"—the Indian version of the bogeyman.

Trembling squaws kept watch on sleeping children. Braves stood guard outside. Public prayers were said. Finally, the Mounties were called.

They found the bogeymen—three teen-age lads whose run through the woods had started the scare.

Thief Caught, Loot Gets Away

SINGAPORE — (AP) — When Chinese dealer Phua Ah Soy saw another Chinese unloading three bottles of whiskey from his van into waiting pedicab, he gave chase. Phua caught the thief but when he returned the pedicab rider had disappeared along with the whiskey.

The thief was sentenced to five months and ordered to pay $12 compensation. Neither the pedicab rider nor the whiskey has been found.

Youthful Hitchhikers Clog Roads

WINNIPEG—(AP) — Thirty high school boys and girls were hailed before the juvenile and family courts on charges of soliciting rides from motorists by walking on the highway. An officer said the students had given police a headache by walking as many as four abreast.

You incur no obligation in sending for this instructive book. It may be the means of saving you years of untold misery. Address your letter to The Ball Clinic, Dept. 4105, Excelsior Springs, Missouri, but be sure to write today.

Photos Aid Ocean Canyon Study

LA JOLLA, Calif.—(AP)—New photographic evidence for the cause of submarine canyons, some of which are as large as Grand Canyon, has been shown by Dr. Francis P. Shepard, professor of submarine geology at the University of California.

The films, taken on the sea floor, reveal that submarine canyons are similar in many details to dry land canyons, with vertical and overhanging rock walls, minor tributaries entering the main canyon, and hanging cliffs, where waterfalls might have existed before the canyons were submerged.

Aerial mapping photography has been made twice as effective as before with a new device known as the Twinplex. The instrument can reproduce a 22.2-square-mile area in a single photograph. Using paired aerial photographs, it produces three-dimensional effects—a decided advantage in aerial bombing.

History of Sedalia Chapter 57 O.E.S. Given on Anniversary

A history of Sedalia Chapter, No. 57, Order of the Eastern Star was written by Mrs. G. H. Abney and read by her at the 50th anniversary of that chapter which was held Tuesday night, March 13, at the Masonic Temple.

The history follows:

Before reading the history, I should like to express my thanks to my various sources of information. First, to Sister May Highleyman for her efficient keepng of the records since 1903. To Sister Ruth Seifert for a paper she prepared in recognition of Sister May's "thirty years as a secretary." To Sister Pearl E. Peabody, grand secretary. To a specific issue of Eastern Star news which is mentioned in the history. And to the little bits of history unknowingly added by many of you in conversation.

At any family anniversary, such as we are celebrating tonight, the phrases "do you remember?" and "I remember when" are frequently heard, so now, let's go back into that land of "Remember" and see what Time has recorded.

Many of the past matrons and past patrons have answered the last roll call but many are with us tonight, so will you, as your name is called, please stand?

The charter of Sedalia Chapter No. 57, is dated March 4, 1901. On March 8th, 1901 the chapter was constituted and set to work by Sister Mary S. Russell, DDGM of the 27th district. The work of the order was then exemplified by Sister Ella Jean Flanders, Worthy Grand Matron, and the officer of Warrensburg Chapter No. 3. Sister Melissa A. Campbell was the first Worthy Matron and Brother Elroy E. Codding was the first Worthy Patron. Only one charter member is still living, although no longer a member. She is Mrs. Damon Porter of Long Beach, Calif.

Grand Chapter Here

In 1902 the Worthy Marton was Dr. Minerva M. Knott and the Worthy Patron was Bro. Codding. In the fall of this year, Grand Chapter met in Sedalia, the sessions being held in the circuit court room of the old court house. Sister May tells of helping to decorate and using hundreds of yards of red, white and blue bunting. And then of one visiting sister who wanted to see the sights, so May hitched up her horse and buggy and took her to the Fair Grounds and cemetery.

In 1903 Sister Margaret Ammon was Matron and Bro. Archie Campbell was Patron. Sister May was elected Secretary for the first time. No other record.

The Worthy Matron in 1904 was Sister May Belle Codding and the Worthy Patron was Bro. Wm. H. Holcroft. During this year our Bro. Codding was serving as Worthy Grand Patron. It was during this year that the St. Louis World's Fair was in progress and our chapter received a Certificate of Membership in the World's Fair Association. I find that during these early years a school of instruction was held only upon the request of the individual chapters. I also find that the expenses of the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron to Grand Chapter were only what they had spent, later increased to $5.00 and then to $10.00 and so on. Times have changed a bit, haven't they? This sentence is lifted right out of the minutes "December 27, 1904, being such a terrible night the OES didn't meet, there being only two brave enough to face the storm."

Influence Spread

In 1905 the presiding officers were Sister Mary E. Black and Bro. J. N. Johnson. The chapter was honored with a visit by Bro. Wm. F. Kuhn who was Worthy Grand Patron of Missouri when Sedalia Chapter was chartered, and who has been advanced to the honored position of Most Worthy Grand Patron. The influence of Sedalia Chapter was spreading—Sister Margaret Ammon, Past Matron, had moved to Prosser, Wash., and took an active part in starting the chapter there. A free will offering was taken for the Lewis Clark Exposition at Portland, Ore. Eastern Star Day, June 24th, was observed with a social, the profits of $29.25 being sent to the new Masonic Home Fund.

1906 saw the opening of the New Masonic Home in St. Louis and our Worthy Matron, Sister Katherine Holcroft, and Worthy and Worthy Patron Bro. Willis W. Blain, were invited to assist in receiving during the reception. 1906 also brings to mind the San Francisco earthquake and as usual Sedalia Chapter met the emergency with a fine donation for aid. And here's an item you'll love—"October 9, 1906, reports of officers who attended Grand Chapter in Kansas City postponed until next meeting due to the lateness of the hour." At Grand Chapter this year our Sister Codding was appointed DDGM. Candlesticks, shades and candles for the star points were presented in memory of Sister Eliza Costian, who had served as Treasurer since the beginning of the chapter.

To New Temple

1907 saw the removal of the Masonic meetings from the Masonic Hall in the old Sedalia Trust Company Bldg. to the new Masonic Temple. During this year the Knights Templar Conclave was held in Sedalia, and the Worthy Matron, Sister Gertrude Englund, and the Worthy Patron, Bro. Codding, were in the receiving line.

For the next two years we can find no record other than Grand Chapter Annual Reports and so I give you only the names of the presiding officers. In 1908 they were Sister Eda Parks and Bro. Blain. Incidentally, this is the fourth time Bro. Blain has served as Worthy Patron—twice in Orrick, Mo., and twice in Sedalia. It is also true that he holds one of the longest Masonic memberships of anyone in Sedalia— 54 years. In 1909 the officers were Sister Ida Easton and Bro. Albert J. Campbell. I have also been told that it was about this time that Sister Maybelle Codding was appointed Grand Esther.

In 1910 the officers were Sister Mabel Mayberry and Bro. Campbell. On March 8, 1910, the dues were raised from $1.15 to $1.50 which they still remain after all these years. On June 28, 1910, the gavel being used tonight was presented to the chapter by Dr. A. H. Heaton who had brought it from Jerusalem.

My, how social sessions have changed! In the early days I find Sister So-and-so served fudge or Bro. Somebody served popcorn. Or it was apples, or cookies, etc. Only on a very special occasion was ice cream, cake and coffee served.

In 1911 the Worthy Matron was Sister Sally Pritchard and the Worthy Patron was again Bro. Campbell.

In 1912 the Worthy Matron was Sister LeVetta Mowbray and the Worthy Patron Bro. Geo. W. McVey. In May of this year the members were invited by the Worthy Grand Patron W. H. Tate to assist in instituting the new chapter at Otterville.

Club Was Organized

In 1913 with Sister Elizabeth Ernst as Worthy Matron and Bro. McVey, Worthy Patron, a Past Matrons and Past Patrons Club was organized—June 24th, 1913.

You may think our installations these days are lengthy, but back in the early days I find records such as this: "The chapter was adjourned for the purpose of installing the officers of Sedalia Chapter and the two lodges." And what's more, sometimes they were followed with a banquet of turkey and all the trimmings.

During the term of office of Sister Gertrude Owens and Bro. Ed J. Evans in 1914 Sedalia Chapter was invited to exemplify the work for the new chapter at Green Ridge. A large electric star was presented to the chapter and the large altar which was used for many years was presented during this year by Sister Owens—it was made in Sedalia from native oak. At Grand Chapter this year Sister Elizabeth Ernst was appointed DDGM.

In 1915 the officers were Sister Anna L. Evans and Bro. Wm. E. Brown. The large ballot box which we formerly used was made, the emblem embossed on it, and presented by Bro. Jas. Patrick Downs.

1916's officers were Sister Katie Blanchard and Bro. Mark Daniels. After the resignation of Bro. Daniels, Bro. Leo S. Harris was elected to serve the unexpired term.

In War Activities

1917 and 1918 found the chapter basily engaged in various war activities under the leadership of Sister Belle Regan McVey and Bro. Harris; and Sister Susie Moyer and Bro. A. M. Harlan. Of all those who saw active service all members of the chapter returned safely. The chapter joined with other civic organizations in a city-wide welcome-home picnic at Liberty Park.

The prosperity boom following the war was beginning in 1919 during the term of Sister Jean Rodeman and Bro. Sid B. Kennon. All Masonic bodies were growing and as usual growing boys liked to eat. Sister Rodeman and her helpers served 144 banquets. She presented a new piano and gave $500.00 to the Temple Association to help remodel the old or start the fund for a new temple. Sister Moyer was appointed to serve as Grand Representative for Kansas and later appointed DDGM.

In 1920 while Sister Sallie Staples and Bro. Del C. Moore were presiding officers, there was a Shrine meeting here. Sister Staples and her committees served a banquet to 1000 members. The food was cooked at the Temple and taken to the McAllister Garage (now E. W. Thompson's) where it was served. She had tables made for the dining room, bought chairs, a hot water heater and gave $800.00 to the Temple Fund. Sister Katie Blanchard was appointed DDGM this year.

In 1921 Sister Minnie Harris and Bro. Jolly Hurtt were the Matron and Patron. The DeMolay was organized in January of this year. Sedalia Chapter served the organization banquet and had a social to make money to buy robes for the boys. July 29, 1921, saw the beginning of another chapter of Eastern Star in the city. Sister Blanchard DDGM and the officers of Sedalia Chapter exemplified the work for the members of Pettis Chapter No. 279.

Sister Leona White and Bro. Walter E. Staley were presiding in 1922. On January 10th slides were used in the initiation ceremony for the first time. Also in January Sedalia Chapter assisted in instituting Osage Valley Chapter at Warsaw. In April of this year the Temple Board proposed the reorganization of the Board and use of equipment to which all organizations agreed.

You may remember the minstrel show given in 1923 under the direction of Sister Margaret Dameron and Bro. Weigand C. Gross. The music was arranged by Sister

Duggan-Field Link May Be Clue to Seven Disappearances

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

(Ed. Note: Drew Pearson is on a flying tour of Europe and the Middle East, surveying the world situation.)

FRANKFORT—The No. 1 American mystery of Europe continues to be the sudden and unsolved disappearance of four Americans in the Noel Field case after Field was named by Whittaker Chambers as a member of the Communist cell in the U. S. State Department. This case is now being linked for the first time with another unsolved mystery in the United States—the strange death of Laurence Duggan, found in a snowbank 16 floors below his New York office. Duggan also was named in the State Department investigation, though cleared by the justice department.

The amazing thing is that a total of seven people have now died mysteriously or disappeared even more mysteriously following revelations in the Alger Hiss case.

The four people who have disappeared behind the iron curtain with or in the wake of Noel Field are: Field himself, who disappeared in Czechoslovakia May 10, 1949. His brother Herman vanished August 22 that same year while traveling in an airplane between Warsaw and Prague. A few days later Mrs. Noel Field disappeared while trying to find her husband in Prague. Then, one year later, Erica Wallachs, a friend of the Fields, went into the Russian zone of Berlin in search of them and never came back. All these disappearances occurred during about the same period of three mysterious deaths in the Hiss case. They were:

Death No. 1—Harry Dexter White, former assistant secretary of the treasury who reportedly died of heart failure Aug. 16, 1948, after testifying before the Congressional committee at which Elizabeth Bentley and charged White with being a member of the elite Communist group inside the government. White's death was not announced until one day afterward and he was buried hastily. Later it was reported the real cause of his death was an overdose of digitalis, not heart failure.

Death No. 2—Walter Marvin Smith, justice department attorney found at the base of the justice department staircase where he had fallen or jumped Oct. 20, 1948, shortly after the House un-American Activities committee had questioned him on his notarization of the transfer of title of a Ford automobile from Hiss to William Rosen, described in the Congressional testimony as a Communist organizer. Hiss, according to Whittaker Chamber, insisted on turning over his car to the Communist organizer. Smith was the only actual witness to the transfer.

Death No. 3 and the most mysterious of all was that of Laurence Duggan, the former State Department official who, "while putting on his overshoes to go home," fell through a New York skyscraper window. Ruggan had been questioned a few days earlier regarding Communist spies in the State Department. Insurance investigators believed it unlikely that a man would commit suicide while putting on his overshoes and paid his widow nonsuicide death benefits.

Duggan-Field Link Clue to Mystery?

It now develops there was a personal link between Duggan and Field which may supply one small clue to this international mystery. Duggan and Field not only served in the State Department at the same time but, for one period, they shared the same house together off Judiciary Square in Washington. Duggan informed his superiors during the war that he had once attended Communist meetings in Alexandria, Va., during his early days in the State Department but he had never joined the party and became unsympathetic with their ideas.

Field, meanwhile, had left the State Department in 1936 and joined the League of Nations secretariat. During the war he served as European director of the Unitarian Service committee which took him to Poland and Czechoslovakia, where he established medical centers and childrens homes. He had thus become well acquainted with these two countries and, after the war, remained abroad to write a book on Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Disappearance Unplanned

On May 5, 1949, Field went from Switzerland to Prague and on May 1- he failed to keep an afternoon appointment. He has not been heard of since. Apparently he did not plan to disappear because his room showed no signs of departure. He did not notify the friend with whom he had the appointment nor his wife, Herta, who planned to join him in a few weeks.

Five months later, however, when the Communists tried Hungarian Foreign Minister Laszlo Rajk, the Hungarian Press reported that Rajk testified that Field had persuaded him to become "a servant of American Imperialism." Later, in the fall of 1950, six east German Communists were charged with dealing with "the American spy, Noel Field." More recently Czech refugees have reported that Field would testify in the trial of Czech Foreign Minister Vladimir Clementis, though there has been nothing to substantiate this.

Meanwhile, Field's brother Herman, in August, 1949, decided to go to Prague to find his missing brother. He boarded a plane in Warsaw on August 22. Friends accompanied him to the airport and the American embassy, checking the plane's manifest later, found his name was on it. However, when the plane arrived at Prague Herman Field was not on it. He has never been heard of since, either, except in one respect.

On Feb. 25, 1950, Vilem Novy, editor of the Czech Communist newspaper, Rude Pravo, was denounced by a member of the central Communist committee for having betrayed state secrets to a western espionage agent when Novy was a refugee in Krakow in 1939. Herman Field, who was then doing refugee work among Czech refugees in Krakow, knew Novy and was apparently that alleged agent.

Theories On Unsolved Mystery

Meanwhile, Mrs. Noel Field left Switzerland on August 3 to seek her husband in Prague but she, too, disappeared from sight c August 17. A year later, with the Fields' whereabouts still unsolved, their friend Erica Wallachs, wife of a Washington attorney, persuaded her husband to let her go to Switzerland to locate them. Mrs. Wallachs went to Berlin alone, reportedly was met by Leo Bauer, editor of the Soviet-controlled Berlin radio whom she knew. She has never been heard of since.

Several theories are given for these disappearances. One is that Feild had been working with the Communists and, when the Congressional investigations got too hot, he wanted to be taken into protective Communist custody. Another theory is that the Fields had worked with the Communists in their early days, knew their vital secrets, and became too dangerous for them to have on the loose. Another is that they wanted Noel Field as a witness against key figures, such as Hungarian Foreign Minister Rajk. Field not only worked with refugees during and after the war but also with the OSS in Czechoslovakia and Hungary in an effort to unseat Hitler's puppet governments.

Meanwhile, until Field and his family are heard from direct, his whereabouts remains the No. 1 unsolved mystery of Europe.

Pearson Scores on Costello

The New York hearings of the Senate crime investigating committee have corroborated some early Merry-Go-Round stories delving into the background of kingpin gambler Frank Costello. As early as July 21, 1947, Drew Pearson revealed that Costello had become a citizen under false pretenses and indicated that he could be deported. This week, March 13, the Senate crime probers openly mentioned the possibility of Costello's deportation on the basis of his falsified citizenship application. Also, in July, 1948, Pearson pointed out the close association of New Orleans race-horse owner William Helis, Irving Haim, "Dandy" Phil Kastel and Frank Costello. Helis at that time vigorously denied any connection, but the close relationship of these individuals was established by the Senate committee which brought out testimony linking Costello with House of Lords and King's Ransom—for whom Helis had acted as sales agent.

Red Cross Speeds First Aid For War

AP Newsfeatures

FIRST AID knowledge may become vital if threats of war should turn into reality. The American Red Cross has long sponsored classes in giving help to the injured. Now the Red Cross gives these hints of knowledge you should have if called upon when disaster strikes. One member of every family is urged to have proper training in modern first aid.

SHOCK in some degree is present in almost every injury. Here the victim is covered to hold body temperature, but not too warm. Small amounts of fluid are given. Can you recognize shock? Do you know what else to do?

IN FRACTURE old newspaper may be used for a splint, but in some cases no splint can be used.

FOR BLEEDING tourniquet may be applied. Do you know when this is required; when not?

FOR SOME BURNS dry dressings should be applied as shown here. Do you know what material to use? Could you recognize cases where it cannot be used?

Daughter Will Watch Money When She Pays Her Own Way

Writes a worried mother: "My daughter has been earning her own money since graduating from high school last June, and the resulting feeling of independence has caused her to resent any advice which her parents try to give her, no matter how kindly it is given.

"In other words, she will accept a suggestion from a friend or fellow worker, rather than from a member of the family.

"The tactful suggestion that she share part of her paycheck to help with room and board, since her Dad's salary is none too large, was hotly resented. Two of her friends are not expected to help in any way at home.

"It was a bit disconcerting recently to discover that at Christmas she had invested in an expensive gift for a girl friend and presented her sister with a last-minute dollar gift. More recently, she overlooked her mother's birthday entirely, but at the same time gave a friend $25 as a wedding gift. In other words, she has not yet learned the value of money and fails to realize any impropriety in giving too expensive gifts to mere acquaintances. Can you help?"

You're certainly right in thinking your daughter should be paying for board and room. With living costs what they are today, a working son or daughter ought to pay his or her own way.

Settle on a Fair Amount

So the first step in straightening out your daughter's thinking would seem to be to settle on a fair amount to be paid weekly or monthly for board and room.

Assure her that you won't nag at her about how she spends the rest of her money if she fulfills her obligation on that count.

Don't worry too much about her tendency to be too lavish with the the money she spends on friends.

She'll no doubt cut that out of her own free will if her paycheck has to cover all of her own expenses, such as board and room, clothes, doctor's and dentist's bills.

Be firm about holding her to her responsibility for paying her own way and she'll grow up fast about money matters. She's thinking like a child with too big an allowance now, instead of like an adult who has reached financial independence.

The Doctor Answers

By Dr. Jordan

Every once in a while the question comes up as to whether a blood test can be made to determine the parentage of a child. The first question today is typical.

Q—Please tell me if there is is any way of establishing the parentage of a child. Would a blood test prove that a certain man is the father of a child or not? Mrs. W.

A—The blood of human beings can be classified in various "groups." It is known that these groups are inherited in certain definite ways. Consequently by typing (that is testing for groups) the blood of child, mother, and father it is SOMETIMES possible to report that one of the two grownups could NOT have been a parent of that particular child. Testing the blood, however, can NEVER show that a certain man was the father, it can only demonstrate in some cases that he was not.

* * *

Q—For the past year, I have had trouble with my eyes watering a good deal. The eye specialist found nothing wrong. Can you explain what causes this tearing? Mrs. L.D.

A—This is a common condition. Apparently it does not have anything to do with the visual functions of the eye. One possible explanation is that it is a sort of allergy or sensitiveness to cold.

* * *

Q—What is the cause of being grouchy all the time? My husband is wonderful but he has been cranky most of the six years of our married life. Mrs. N.

A—It can't be much fun to have a grouchy husband no matter how wonderful he is in other ways. Why not have a good talk with him and tell him how unhappy it makes you? If he has been that way for six years it is probably his state of mind and not the reflection of any physical condition.

* * *

Q—Is there any connection between arthritis and severe coronary occlusion? My mother suffered a heart attack a few months ago and recently has had arthritis in her left arm. Mrc. F. A.

A—There is a severe form of shoulder pain which sometimes comes on after a coronary thrombosis. It is somewhat different from the usual forms of arthritis and requires different treatment, but it can be most painful and distressing.

* * *

Q—When I wake from sleep I notice a crackling in the nose. Is this a sinus condition of some kind? J. B.

A—This is a new one to me. If this is your only symptom it doesn't sound serious.

* * *

Q—If the heart skips beats will it eventually lead to a more serious condition or is there a cure for it? G. F. W.

A—An irregularly beating heart calls for examination including the test known as the electrocardiogram. There is a condition, however, in which extra beats occur called systoles which is not a real heart disease and this may be what you have.

* * *

Q—I have a few sores in my nose usually during the hay fever season. When they get well they leave a small white spot. Could this be a sign of cancer of the nose? Mrs. M. A O.

A—It is almost certainly not cancer, though just what these curious spots really are is impossible to tell without examining them.

Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However, once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Singapore Bans Textile Re-Export

SINGAPORE—(AP)—The Singapore government has banned the re-export of textiles to the British crown colony of Hongkong.

The action was taken to halt activities of some merchants who had imported large quantities of textiles—some of which had come from Hongkong — and shipped them back to that colony because of a much higher-priced market.

Singapore authorities also want to be in a position to maintain textiles re-export trade with Indonesia and neighboring territories. This business runs into millions of dollars annually.

THE STORY: Tim Reese, a crippled veteran, has kept an exclusive gown shop "Jean Paul" in business with his sketches. By pretending to care for him Jean Roland, a model and one of the partners in the firm, keeps Tim infatuated with her and working without realizing his value to the firm. Knowing this pretense cannot be kept up indefinitely, Jean sends Midge, a farm girl who visits Tim at the veterans' hospital, an outfit with which to dazzle Tim. But when Midge calls, there is an accident which shows Tim that he can walk. Tim goes to New York to surprise Jean.

* * *

A STOCK girl, in answer to Tim Reese's inquiry for Jean Roland, led him to a practically invisible office, the door to which was a tall shining mirror flanked, for the season, by great sprays of poinsettias.

The office was a small square room, functional and businesslike in chrome and wood, very much in contrast to the elegance of the shop outside.

Behind the desk was a busy secretary, a plump young woman with as bland and guileless a face as Tim had ever seen. A small black-and-silver sign on the desk declared her to be Miss Major.

Tim assumed that this woman, Miss Major, was the secretary to Paul Panciera, the owner of Jean Paul, and in this assumption he was entirely correct She had the efficient, manner-of-fact way of appraising Tim, that good secretaries always have.

Tim approached his purpose in all good humor, telling the secretary it was his first night out since June, 1944, and he wanted very much to see Miss Roland.

Miss Major did not join in the humor. She took up a silver pencil chained to a silver pad, prepared to write.

"Name, please?"

"I'd just as soon not give it, if you don't mind." Tim stood, supported by his canes, at the desk before her. "I came here so I could—well, it sounds kind of silly, I guess, but I might as well tell you, I came here to surprise her."

If Miss Major thought this boyishness amusing, she gave no sign.

"Tomorrow at eleven," she said. "Even if you saw fit to give your name I could not reach her. She is going to the Corinthians' Ball tonight."

"The Corinthians' Ball?" Tim searched his memory. "That's a kind of dressmakers' shindig, isn't it?"

"It is a very social and very exclusive affair." Miss Major was very bland.

"Funny." Tim again tried his memory. "I thought I read somewhere about it being a fashion show, or something like that."

* * *

MISS MAJOR began to show the least sign of impatience. "They pick the 'Dress of the Year' tonight, if that's what you mean."

"Miss Roland won't be modeling then?"

"Why not? Miss Roland moves only in the very best circles." Miss Major, as she spoke, wrote casually on the pad: "Man on Canes. Friday A. M. At Eleven."

"Where is this—grand affair?"

"At the Empire."

"That's right. I remember now. It's there every year, isn't it?"

But, for Miss Major the conversation was ended. "Tomorrow at eleven," she said blandly.

"I guess I'll have to go over to the Ball, then." Tim was very offhand.

Miss Major, surprised, looked up sharply.

"I'll be in and tell you about it tomorrow." Tim, chuckling, enjoying her fall from aloofness, shuffled out of the office.

* * *

THE Empire rose in gray and solemn majesty on Park Avenue. Almost every night there were glitter and gay elegance at its front entrance. But this night, with the snow softly falling, there seemed to be more glitter and elegance than usual.

The Corinthians' Ball was an unique institution in that, while it was a strictly social affair, it was nonetheless the great couturiers' night of the year. For, that night, the first designers of the world presented for the first time the one gown they thought their best.

The ball was also unique in that the jury that chose the dress of the year was composed entirely of men. The ordinary professional model did not, as Miss Major explained, model the dresses, but the guests at the ball.

The honor of the award brought not only distinction to the winning house but considerable acclaim and business as well.

Tim had read of the event in a fashion magazine, and, as he recalled it, it had seemed to him a sumptuous fiction out of some grandiose book or film.

Now, as he stood at the curb a short distance from the hotel entrance and watched the smartly groomed men and beautifully attired women glide from their shining limousines across the carpeted and canopied sidewalk into the vast, vaulted splendor of the lobby of the Empire, it seemed even more of a fiction than ever. It was incredibly far from a wheel chair in the Summit Hospital, Cedarbrook, to the entrance of the Empire.

THE WAY TO CALVARY

Pilate Washes His Hands

After the elders decided Jesus must die, they took Him to Pilate to be sentenced according to law. The Roman governor discerned the envy behind their action and tried to evade passing judgment. Questioning Jesus, he learned He was a Galilean.

Galilee being under Herod's jurisdiction, Pilate sent the Nazarene to the tetrarch who happened to be in Jerusalem. Herod tried to joke with the Savior, and asked for a miracle. Jesus was silent. Finally Herod mockingly arrayed Him in a gorgeous robe and sent Him back to Pilate.

Pilate tried again to assuage the crowd. When he offered them the choice of freedom for Barabbas, a murderer and seditionist, or Jesus, they cried for the release of Barabbas and crucifixion for Jesus. Pilate then washed his hands, saying, "I am innocent of the blood of this just man: look ye to it."

History of Sedalia Chapter 57 O.E.S. Given on Anniversary

Nellie Monegan. This show was a benefit for the DeMolay. Sister Leona White was appointed DDGM this year.

Sister Eunice Griffey was Worthy Matron in 1924 and Bro. Edward H. Schaefer was Worthy Patron.

Plans For Chapel

In 1925 Sister Minnie Lierman and Bro. Lisle Morseman were presiding. During this year plans were begun for a chapel at the Masonic Home and Sedalia Chapter sent an Easter offering toward this project.

In 1926 with Sister Delia Truitt Turner and Bro. Lon E. Leslie presiding, the chapter observed its silver anniversary. In June of this year the first official visit of the Worthy Grand Matron to the district, instead of to the individual chapters, was made at Warrensburg. Following the Grand Chapter session this year the flag ceremony was made a part of the opening of the chapter and must be used at each meeting. During this year four sisters made a trip to St. Louis to investigate the possibility of organizing a Job's Daughters Bethel for girls in Sedalia, the result being that Bethel No. 15 was organized which this chapter has sponsored since its beginning.

Up to this time the lady officers had worn white street dresses. Following the installation of officers for 1927, which included Sister Ruth Morseman as Matron and Bro. T. R. Luckett as Patron, the retiring Matron presented the officers with new white satin robes. Sister Eunice Griffey was serving as DDGM.

The officers for 1928 where Sister Hazel Taylor and Bro. John W. Stover; and for 1929 they were Sister Louise White and Bro. Herbert Seifert. During these two years the equipment, robes and pharaphanalia were given to the Job's Daughters, and many social sessions were given for the girls. I can remember well the beautiful Christmas dance in 1929 for the girls and the DeMolay boys.

In 1930 under the leadership of Sister Effie Hurtt and Bro. Willis G. Jones the chapter again served several banquets. And do you remember particularly the kid party with Bro. Kennon as the stern schoolmaster? The Service Circle was organized by Sister Hurtt in October 1930. 12 sunbonnet quilts were made and quilted in 10 weeks and sent to the girls nursery at the Masonic Home in St. Louis for Christmas that year. Talk about nimble fingers!

The Worthy Matron in 1931 was Sister Edith Leslie and the Worthy Patron was Bro. Ernest Holst. This year saw a decided change in women's fashions and in May the officers appeared in white satin evening dresses with chiffon scarfs in color appropriate to their stations.

Sister Ruth Seifert and Bro. Victor Gill were presiding in 1932. And our own Bro. A. J. Campbell was elected Worthy Grand Patron of Missouri. On November 22 he was honored with a banquet and reception. Sharing honors with him was the Worthy Grand Matron, Sister Kathryn Spangler, now an honorary member of Sedalia Chapter. A special session of Grand Chapter was called by the Worthy Grand Matron preceding our chapter meeting for the purpose of installing the Grand Sentinel. Several of our officers served as Grand Officers pro tem for this meeting.

Sister Louise Holst and Bro. Leroy Hodges presided during the celebration year of Sister May's "Thirty years as a Secretary." Also in 1933 Sister Ruth Seifert was appointed Gr. Rep. of Idaho.

In 1934 Sister Lila Burl Sammons and Bro. Thos. W. Aulgur were presiding. With all the gladness of the years there is also sadness. Do you remember the celebration of National Railroad Week when dinner was served at the Missouri-Pacific Shops? Perhaps that tragic accident was the worst to befall the city of Sedalia. We lost one of our faithful members and sympathy was extended to the First Methodist Church, whose ladies served the dinner. Spreads and curtains for the boys' room at the Home were sent this year. Sister Effie Hurtt served as DDGM during 1933 and 1934.

In 1935 Sister Emma Carl and Bro. Charles Mendershausen were our leaders. Sister Sammons was appointed DDGM. The issue of the Eastern Star News for October 1935 was dedicated to Sedalia and Pettis Chapters with special articles and pictures.

In 1936 there was another change in fashion. The officers of Sister Nellie Stover and Bro. Wm. E. Brown appeared in color—the Worthy Matron in purple, the Associate Matron in orchid, the star points in their appropriate colors, the others in white. The signet was purchased this year.

Sister Carrie Hodges and Bro. Bruce Pryor were presiding in 1937. Our chapter with the other organizations, helped to buy new furniture for the Red Room. In this year we joined with other chapters of the district in furnishing a room at the Masonic Home.

In 1938 Sister Hattie Mae Corbett was Matron and Bro. Everett White was Patron. A piano was given to the chapter by Bro. J. W. Stover in memory of his wife who was a Past Matron. Sister Lena Seifert was appointed DDGM. A donation was sent on the birthday of the Worthy Grand Matron to the fund for the new girls building at the Masonic Home. During this year the kitchen of the temple was modernized. Also during this year the electric problems of the various bodies were installed. The large white altar Bible and the small ones used in initiation were presented by Sister Corbett and Bro. White.

Silver Anniversary

In 1939 Sister Lucille White and Bro. Frank Coffman Sr., were presiding. At the school of instruction this year, a silver anniversary program was given to honor Sister Nellie Page's 25th year as Grand Lecturer. The new altar and star point pedestals were presented by Sister White and Bro. Coffman.

Sister Viola Coffman was Matron and Bro. Harry Pasley was Patron in 1940. The reputation of our Star cakes is quite famous but the first one was made in May of 1940 for Sister May's birthday party—a festival of roses. Remember? In September of this year the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Club was reorganized, and Sister May was made an honorary member.

In 1941 our presiding officers were Sister Shirley Wagner and Bro. Henry Nieman. The choir robes were presented by the Service Circle. Remember the fun we had at the minstrel presented by the Helen G. Steele Music Club? The star point chairs were presented and dedicated by Sister Coffman. I remember Bro. Peabody's comment. He said, "The star points settled down into their chairs like an old hen settling into her nest." The Red Cross war work was just getting started this year. And of course you remember the birthday party for Sister Flora Lister's 100th birthday. And also the mock wedding for the Associate Matron, Sister Mary Frances Staley Spears. At Grand Chapter this year Sister Coffman was appointed DDGM.

Sister Hazel Palmer and Bro. Robert Parks were presiding in 1942. Red Cross and war activities were going forward in earnest with some members leaving for service.

Service Flag Presented

Sister Roberta Nieman and Bro. Bryan Howe were presiding in 1943. At the Flag Day ceremony in June a service flag was presented. A party was given honoring the Past Matrons and Past Patrons. Sister Nellie Monegan was made an honorary member of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Club. They served during the initiation using the ritual of thirty years ago, using the slides, and furniture, and wearing the dresses of their year. Sister Lucille White was appointed DDGM. A new crown and scepter was presented by the Service Circle in recognition of the Secretary's forty years service.

In 1944 the presiding officers were Sister Mary Peabody Wood and Bro. Robert Reed. The Worthy Matron was married during her year and moved to that little suburb of Sedalia known as Chicago, and commuted back and forth to most of the remaining meetings. In 1945 the officers were Sister Madeline Gill and Bro. Jos. B. Drake. Bro. Drake moved to Texas and Bro. Edwin T. Martin was elected to the unexpiring term. During these years everyone was engaged in war work. Late in 1945 there was a program at the Colesium honoring all county service men at which there were many distinguished guests from over the state.

In 1946 our officers were Sister Millie Coffman Bowers and Bro. Lynn Russell. It was during this year that Sister Spangler was made an honorary member. The altar light was presented and dedicated by the Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron.

Sister Kay Miller Gilbert was Matron and Bro. Charles Smith was Patron in 1947. The service circle presented a white altar Bible to the Job's Daughters. Curtains were made and sent for the girl's room, included in the Easter box were toys and candies. Do you remember the wedding party given for Maxine Leslie? And on "Good Neighbor Night" we had officers from the various chapters in the district fill the stations. This was followed by men's fashion show. Everything from nighties, through beach wear, street dress, and formals was shown. During the summer of 1947 the Blue and Red Rooms of the Temple were redecorated.

In 1948 the presiding officers were Sister Ethel Abney and Brother Leonard Williams. In March we had a silver anniversary party for Sister Nellie Monegan's 25 years service as organist. And then remember how surprised Bro. Campbell was the night he was added to the "Hall of Fame"?

DUTCH DESIGN— Blue satin evening dress by Dutch couturier Herbert Sidon has star-splashed sash with 3-ended bow. Stars are studded with pearls and diamante.

I mean of course the large picture out in the anteroom. And in December the Hurtt's golden wedding anniversary.

In 1949 our leaders were Sister Irene Aulgur and Bro. Lee Peabody. In January Sister Viola Coffman was appointed Gr. Rep. of New Mexico and was honored later with a ranch party. The new standard ballot box was presented by the Service Circle.

In 1950 Sister Lavina Coontz was Worthy Matron and Bro. Jos Smetana was Worthy Patron. Sister Coffman's commission was renewed and the Coffmans entertained with a chuck wagon supper preceding a chapter meeting. Sister Mildred Downey of Pettis Chapter was DDGM this year and we all followed the "Traveling Friendship Bible" started by the Worthy Grand Matron. At Grand Chapter in October Sister Coffman was installed as Grand Esther. A "Queen Esther" party was held in her honor in October. Plans for kitchen improvements were begun.

Highlights Are Given

I've given only highlights of history. You can recall without any help from me the many beautiful memorial ceremonies, the parties honoring Past Matrons and Past Patrons, the visits of distinguished guests, the impressive installations. Perhaps some particular event shines brightest in your memory. Each retiring Matron and Patron have given lovely gifts to the Chapter or Temple but I have mentioned only a few. Our chapter has responded to every call for assistance at the Home—spreads, guilts, curtains, cushions, pillow slips, dresser scarves, napkins, toys, barrels of canned goods, and many other items, all in addition to cash donations. We have grown in size from the required 25 charter members to 547 as given on the 1950 annual report. In joy and in sorrow, in prosperity and depression, we have worked together for the good of the Order and for our fellow man. Yes,

The first fifty years have ended,
But the memory lingers on.

Charges Burma Invites Aggression

RANGOON — (AP) — Burma will become a second Korea unless the Burmese government changes its "middle-of-the-road" foreign policy, the 68-year-old former cabinet minister Ba Pe declared here.

He said this country, lying right in the path of Red China, is not strong enough to resist aggression on its own. The Burmese government is committed to a "friendship-with-all" policy. It seeks economic aid from the United States and Commonwealth countries while wooing the Communist bloc. It has declared it will remain neutral should there be general war.

Louis J. Miller has purchased a farm in Tipton's southeast of city limits, from Mrs. Ferguson and her children, Claude, of Tipton, Mrs. Charles Walch, of Springfield, and Edwin of Kansas City. The new owner, Mr. Miller, plans to remodel the home.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Proctor brought home Sunday from St. Louis Mrs. Proctor's mother, Mrs. T. J. Farris who had been there a month after undergoing surgery at St. Luke's hospital. She stayed a week with Dr. and Mrs. Fred Mrs. Andy Knipp. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Conn, of Sedalia, and Charles Conn, of Webster Groves, were Frerking. A daughter, Mrs. Roy Hofstetter, had been with her mother in St. Louis and Mrs. Farris will remain short time in Mr. and Mrs. Hofstetter's home before returning to the family home.

Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Conn observed their 64th wedding anniversary, March 8.

They received many gifts and congratulatory cards and letters and a cake from Mrs. Clay Howard which had been baked by Friday evening supper guests in the home. Roy and Charles Conn are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Conn.

'I'M SURE SUCH A PLAN WOULD IMPROVE YOUR WORK'

He earned a good salary, but unexpected expenses completely upset his budget. Worry slowed up his work—until his employer sensed the difficulty, and suggested a loan to group his bills. His record justified the loan—and improvement in his work has placed him in line for promotion.

OPEN LETTER to PARENTS of men who soon may enter service

If your son has passed his eighteenth birthday—or may soon become eighteen, he may expect to enter service in the Armed Forces of the United States . . . at sometime not too far in the future.

While he still has the privilege of choosing the service and type of activity he would prefer, may we suggest a visit to the nearest Marine Corps recruiting office.

This invitation is extended to you as parents. Come with your son or 'phone for an appointment. Or if you prefer, a Marine Corps recruiting officer will call on you in your own home.

HERE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE BENEFITS THE MARINE CORPS OFFERS

1. Only in the Marine Corps can your son limit his enlistment to "the duration."
2. Your son may enjoy the prestige of being a "Marine"—with the finest of proud tradition—with morale and standing sustained since 1775.
3. Your son will have the finest training in the world. Marine Corps training facilities are unmatched for all-round, coordinated training for service in peace or war.
4. Your son will be able to continue his education. He may continue high school and college courses through a special study program—or he may learn the trade of his choosing.
5. Your son can enjoy a good paying job and security for life.
6. Your son will have religious guidance and wholesome companionship.
7. Your son will receive promotions and live an interesting life.
8. Your son will receive the best of medical care.

We cannot guarantee absolute safety for your son. No one can do that today. But we can and will guarantee training, equipment and care which will increase his chances of retiring from service, safe and sound.

Visit the recruiting office nearest you, today. Bring your son. There's no obligation and no pressure will be brought to bear. You'll have plenty of time for a leisurely discussion—ask all the questions you want. But don't delay. Phone or see us today.

Suez Area Airports Improved

KHARTOUM, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan—(AP)—The government here is understood to have approved plans to improve the Khartoum Airport, making it one of the most modern in Africa. Informants say plans are also under consideration to improve other airfields in the Sudan, a vital defense area backing up the Suez canal.

Skilled First Aid Corps Big Factor in AtomCivil Defense

By Adm. William H. P. Blandy, U.S.N. (Ret), President, Health Information Foundation.

(Written for NEA Service)

Adm. Blandy

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The cities of America are beginning to face up to the fact that atomic bombardment is a distinct possibility for many of them. Some have discovered that the most important single factor in civil defense against the atom bomb is trained personnel.

Hospitals can be destroyed. To wipe out the doctors, nurses and first aid workers of an entire metropolitan area, however, would be impossible.

Even with widespread destruction of property—and this is a secondary consideration to the destruction of human life—temporary quarters for the injured can be improvised quickly. But there is no quick substitute for people who know what to do in an emergency.

No city in the world can support enough doctors and nurses to give ideal care to the victims of an atomic bombing. But any city can train enough laymen in first aid to keep many of the injured alive until fully trained personnel can reach them.

For this reason I believe enormous numbers of citizens must be trained in first aid and so organized that they can work effectively.

* * *

Particular attention must be given to the training of citizens in sections outside a city's presumed target area, for such people would be most likely to survive an atomic bombing and could be rushed to areas of need after the bombing. Some members of every family should have first aid training.

The American Red Cross has been given the responsibility, in the interests of civil defense, for this mass training in first aid. All the 3700 chapters of Red Cross throughout the country have been notified to prepare classes in which individuals can receive this training in self-survival and in giving assistance to their families and neighbors. It is not necessary to be a civil defense worker to receive the training.

We should all keep ourselves in the best of health. Anyone who has seen the rigors which civilians undergo in combat areas will appreciate the importance of good health as a patriotic obligation, as well as a means of survival.

The healthy have a far better chance to live through such experiences. And, for the good of our country as a whole, it will be valuable in wartime, if the least possible attention need be given to the sick as a burden to be superimposed on care of the injured.

* * *

This is a good time for every community in America—whether a target city or not—to take a good look at its health resources.

In most sections of this country, communities will be pleasantly surprised to discover how much has been accomplished in the field of health, how much once they know where it is and how to get it.

If deficiencies are found in a community's health facilities they should be corrected now.

Pestilence goes with war.

Community-wide immunization against contagious and infectious diseases can conserve our strength when the pinch comes. Supplies of such common medicine cabinet items as thermometers, bandages and the simpler remedies which doctors recommend can be invaluable in emergency and are very useful in ordinary times.

* * *

Some communities, like Clinton County, Ohio, have already undertaken studies of health resources and have found them valuable. With the aid of 400 residents, they learned the facts about such matters as the prevalence of certain diseases—such as undulant fever, caused by drinking unpasteurized milk—sanitary conditions, and the extent of immunization against communicable disease.

This was done simply by asking questions of the county's 20,000 inhabitants. Now only Grade A pasteurized milk can be sold in the county, 4-H Club members are testing wells and the health department is improving sewage disposal.

In Richmond, Va., some 38,000 citizens were put through a medical assembly line and tested for such diseases as tuberculosis, heart disease, high blood pressure and others. Many cases of hidden disease were found in time to begin treatment early, when chances of recovery are highest. Other cities in various parts of the United States have undertaken similar programs.

* * *

During World War II our doctors and nurses at home were overloaded with the task of caring for patients left behind by physicians who had gone to war. The armed forces have once more begun to absorb doctors and nurses in large numbers.

So we need right now to plan how to meet such a situation again the more especially because if there is another major war it may be fought to some extent within our borders. The planning cannot all be done at national levels.

Communities must help themselves.

In the final analysis individuals must help themselves. We might begin with a realization that, just as civilians can be taugh to fight at the front, so they also can learn to take care of their basic needs at home.

"MUST BE THERE SOMEWHERE"—If you're looking for that silver lining through all the dark news, you might try these "world's largest binoculars," being focused by D. P. Bushnell of Pasadena, Calif. Valued at $3000, the 75-power binoculars make an object a mile away appear to be only 74 feet distant. This pair is the sole survivor of 12 built by the Japanese during World War II for use on battleships. The U. S. Navy sank the others.

Immigrant Children Offered Shelter

TEL AVIV—(AP)—Catholic authorities in Nazareth, (Northern Israel), have offered winter shelter to Jewish children now in cold-threatened immigrant camps. At the same time the appeal to house such children in Jewish homes in established villages and towns has made good progress.

The apple blossom is the state flower of Michigan.

Ancient Religious Dispute Ended

CAIRO—(AP)—A centuries-old dispute between the Egyptian and Ethiopian branches of the Coptic Orthodox church has finally been settled with the appointment of an Ethiopian patriarch for Ethiopia.

The new church head, Archbishop Basilios, is the first Ethiopian to head the church in his home country in more than 15 centuries. He was recently consecrated in a ceremony here.
